NUMBER 10

DUO-PIANISTS HIGHLIGHT LYCEUM

Phi Theta Kappa To Visit Estate

The Phi Theta Kappa will take its annual trip to the world famous Biltmore estate Saturday, April 30. This magnificent mansion was completed in 1895 by George Vanderbilt. The estate once included 145,000 acres, but much of the forest area was given to the government and became the nucleus of Pisgah National Forest. The present estate includes 12,000 acres. Since it was opened to the public, the estate has had visitors from every state in the United States and almost all foreign countries.

After the tour of the estate, the group will return for a picnic supper. The members of the club can invite their friends to go along, but they will have to pay their own expenses.

EXECUTIVE HEADS SLATE REGULATIONS

In view of the approaching student body elections, the Executive Committee has recently announced the new requirements for a candidate for office at Brevard College.

Anyone wishing to run for office must have an overall C-average with no failing grades and not more than one D. After achieving the desired position, the nominee-elect must maintain a C in every course and must be progressing toward graduation.

The new rulings were made known at the April 7 meeting of the Student Government Association by Dean Ruby Plant, Dean Malcolm R. Henderson, and Mr. Charles A. Butterworth, Jr., advisors to the group.

The decisions were made by the

Nelson And Neale To Play Piano Concert At College

NELSON & NEAL

The final concert in the current Lyceum series at Brevard College on Monday evening, April 18, at 8:15 will be presented by the Australian-American two-piano team, Nelson and Neale. Single admission tickets will be available at the Campus Center Building.

Consider one of the most popular concert attractions ever to tour the United States, the famous pair are familiar to local audiences, having made several appearances at Brevard College and the Transylvania Music Camp.

Married to music and each other are Harry Neal, who describes himself as a Tennessee country boy, and Allison Nelson, erstwhile child prodigy from Australia. They met while fellow-students at Philadelphia's famed Curtis Institute of Music, and have since become one of the most successful and popular two-piano teams on the international concert circuit. Traveling more than 400,000 miles in a custom-designed bus that is a completely equipped home for them and their three youngsters, they have given nearly 1,000 concerts during the past ten years in 47 of the 50 United States.

They are unanimously acclaimed by the critics for their keen musicianship, accomplished pianism, and refreshingly novel programming; and by audiences in cities large and small for their winning personalities, exuberant vitality, and rare charm.

The story of their musical courtship and subsequent adventures in barnstorming by bus with Brahms and Beethoven is told by Harry Neal in his best-seller book bearing the title "Wave As You Pass."

BREVARD AMBASSADORS TO MAKE GOOD WILL TOUR

Brevard's musical ambassadors, the members of the glee club and sponsor Prof. Nelson Adams, will leave on Saturday, April 23 on their annual spring good will tour.

Washington, D. C., will be the destination of the glee club as they leave Brevard at 8 a.m. on Saturday. Richmond, Virginia, and Charlotte, North Carolina, are also on the list of scheduled stops.

Sunday morning, April 24, the glee club will sing at Francis Asbury Methodist Church; that night, they will be at the Mount Vernon Methodist Church. Monday and Tuesday, they will sing at four different high schools in the capital city.

As an extra added attraction, the members of the glee club will go as a group to see Ben Hur, the movie which recently won 12 Academy Awards.

Tuesday evening, there will be a night concert at Providence Methodist Church in Richmond.

Wednesday, April 27, the "ambassadors" will sing at one of the Charlotte high schools, while Wednesday evening, there will be a night concert at the Memorial Methodist Church.

After a concert and supper at the Methodist Home in Charlotte, the glee club will return to Brevard about 11:00 Thursday evening.

Mr. Adams has expressed his hopes for a successful and enjoyable tour as the ambassadors go forth to proclaim and de-code in song the merits of Brevard Junior College.

BJC Sophomores Prepare For Graduation

As the warm spring days fly by, graduation fast approaches. And the graduate must keep in mind the things that must be done to prepare for this auspicious occasion.

Invitations have been ordered. Now they must be paid for as soon as they arrive.

Measurements for caps and gowns must be made so that the orders may be placed. Sophomores who are candidates for graduation are asked to report to Mrs. Elsie Burhans in the faculty offices as soon as possible so that the records may be kept in order.

In the coming weeks, the CLARION will be asking for information for the special 8-page graduation edition to come out at the end of May. Pictures will also be taken for this edition on an announced date.

DAISIES WON'T TELL, but Gayle Johnson and Trish Young are exploring to see if daffodils will. Yes, it is spring at last and who can resist the call of the outdoors and the beauty of this mountain area where we make our temporary homes. And for us, like Gayle and Trish, the music of spring is getting to be too much; and the strength of our once loud protests, a desertion of book larnin' for the pleasures of spring.

Anonymous Donor Gives $5,000, BJC

Brevard College has received an anonymous gift of $5,000 toward the fund to be used for the erection of the new science building to be built on the campus. To date, the fund has reached $58,250 toward the $200,000 needed to answer the $100,000 challenge grant made in January by the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation of Winston Salem.

Plans for the building are progressing, and although a definite beginning date has not been set, it is hoped that the building will be ready for use by the second semester of next year.

The CLARION, on behalf of the student body, wishes to express deepest sympathy to the Prof. and Mrs. C. Edward Roy in the loss of Mr. Roy's father, Mr. M. E. Roy of Helena, Alabama.

Poley, Newsome Join SGA Council

Nancy Poley of Charlotte, will assume the duties of Student Government Association social chairman on Thursday night at the April 14 meeting of the Student Council. Nancy was appointed by the council when Sara Cox resigned her position as social chairman.

Besides her newly attained position, Nancy is also vice president of the Euterpean Society and a marshal.

Joanne Newsome of Brevard, also recently joined the council. She replaces Carolyn Owen as the representative from the Day Students' Club.

144 PRE-REGISTER

To date, 143 regularly enrolled students and one special student have pre-registered for the fall semester at Brevard College. This is an increase of three over the number that had pre-registered at the same time last year.
