

BUILDING PROGRAM BEGINS TO SHOW PROGRESS

According to Mr. C. A. Butterworth, the architect employed by the college is in the process of drawing up the final plans for the new Administration Building which will go up adjacent to the Science Building and on the French Broad Avenue. The building contract will be awarded around March 1.

Offices located at present in the Campus Center Building will be moved to the new building along with other student personnel and the faculty secretary. The approximate minimum cost will be about $150,000.

As soon as the offices can be moved out of the CCB, an estimated $60,000 will be expended to renovate that building. The two primary purposes of this project will be to enlarge the cafeteria, increasing its capacity 50 per cent, and to convert the rest of the building into Dunham Music Center.

Two new buildings have been added to the Campus south of Jones Hall between Ross Hall and the Gymnasium. These are the Duplex Faculty houses and they are occupied by the Roberts, the Alexanders, and the Dixons.

The two Duplex houses contain four three-bedroom, two-bath living units with a minimum of 1,350 square feet of living space.

These structures cost approximately $54,000, in addition to site improvements such as water supply, sidewalks, and (any) furnishings.

The families moved into their new homes on New Year's Day. Dean and Mrs. Roberts occupy number 1; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander number 2; Mr. and Mrs. Dixon, number 4. Number 3 is at present unoccupied.

GOOD LUCK

The Clarion

TO EVERYONE!

VOLUME XXXI

BREVARD COLLEGE, BREVARD, N. C., JANUARY 17, 1964

NUMBER 6

"Studies Serve For Ability;" On Examinations

Welcome Back Mrs. "D"

by Treva Mitchell

The mother hen has come back to the brood. That is to say that Mrs. Alma Dellinger is back at Brevard College, where she has resumed her duties as Adviser to Women.

Mrs. Dellinger, fondly known by the girls who reside at Brevard College as Mrs. "D", failed to "sign in" on January 2, when the students returned from the Christmas vacation. She took some time off in order to recover from an eye operation which she had during the holidays.

The operation was one in a series of four. It involved a skin graft on the eyelid, and was more serious than the first three, which Mrs. Dellinger has had in the past few years. She was in Charlotte's Presbyterian Hospital from December 16 until Christmas Eve Day, a total of nine days. Fortunately, Mrs. D. was released from the hospital in time to spend Christmas Day with her three daughters, her son, and their families in Lincolnton, N. C.

As for her operation, Mrs. "D" has this to say: "Contrary to what some may think, the operation did not in any way affect my vision".

Remember, girls, she can still see you with 20-20 vision.

Wallace Plans Drama Class

After a "tour of duty" in the Public Relations Department, Alan Wallace will resume the teaching of English 14 (Play Production) and English 15 (Public Speaking) next semester, according to Dean John B. Bennett.

Mr. Wallace's class in Public Speaking will meet for a three-hour session every Monday evening from 6:30 to 9:30. His course is designed and conducted to develop the student's ability to deal effectively with speaking situations, either on the platform or in a discussion group.

The Play Production class will meet every Tuesday and Thursday from 12:30 to 2:00. This is an introductory course to the theatre covering the forms of drama, the development of the theatre, basic techniques in acting, directing, scene design, lighting and management. The class will present an evening program of a full length play or three one-act plays in the Spring.

Mr. Wallace came to Brevard College five years ago after a twenty-five year career as writer, director and administrator in network radio and television.

After graduating from Earlham College he taught Public Speaking, Drama and English for three years at Friends University before taking two years of graduate work in the Yale School of Drama. His experience in broadcast media was preceded by eight years in both professional and community theatres as actor and director. For several years Mr. Wallace conducted Public Speaking classes for his business associates.

Exams began today at 9:00 A.M. and over the campus an air of studious quiet prevails. Regular exams will end Thursday, January 23, at 5:00 P.M. The following day is to be devoted to making up exams which could not be taken because of conflicts. The Academic Standards Committee will meet Saturday, January 25, at 10:00 A.M. in Dean Bennett's office.

Registration Begins January 27

Registration for the spring semester will begin at 8:00 A.M. on Monday, January 27. The sophomore line begins registering when the doors open and continues until 10:30 A.M. The freshmen begin at 1:30 P.M. and finish at 3:00 P.M. A fee of $10.00 will be charged for late registration. Students are asked to have their list of "Recommended Subjects" completed and stamped by the Business office on Monday, January 27.

Among the new courses to be taught during the spring semester will be English 16 (Creative Writing), English 14 (Play Production), Folk Dancing, and Sociology (The Family). Returning freshmen may take English 13 (Journalism) for credit this semester, also.

The first day of classes for the spring semester will begin on Tuesday, January 28. A number of new students are expected to arrive for the new semester.

Mr. Louis Miles has announced that English 16 (Creative Writing) will be offered during the spring semester. All students who are interested should contact Mr. Miles before registration. Each student planning to take the course is required to submit a sample of his writing.

MRS. "D"

Faculty Members Travel To Germany, Nassau

The Brevard College faculty spent their holidays at home, with relatives, or on special vacations, just as the students did.

Many students are already aware of the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Tauscher spent their Christmas vacation in Germany.

The Tauschers flew from Asheville to Hamburg, where they visited Mr. Tauscher's parents, who are on sabbatical leave after having served as missionaries in India.

For Mrs. Tauscher, the trip to Germany was a new experience. She said that she found the people very friendly; they really seemed no different than people at home.

The Tauschers toured Berlin one day. It is much more modern than the old-world town of Hamburg. There is as great a contrast between East and West Berlin. The Western sector is well-populated, fashionable, and at night looks just like Broadway. There are apparently fewer people in the Eastern sector. They are less fashionable, working people. There is a solemn air about the big state-owned buildings on the main streets. There are very few private businesses in East Berlin.

About Berlin, Mrs. Tauscher said, "I was prepared for the Wall. What shocked me were the bombed-out buildings—the churches, the beautiful parliament buildings, with all the windows gone."

Most Psychology 21 and Religion 11 students know about Mr. and Mrs. Roy's trip to Nassau. For seven days Mr. Roy served as Protestant Chaplain on the S.S. Atlantic from New York to Nassau, the capital of the Bahamas.

On the ship, the Roys enjoyed fine food and entertainment by top radio stars. Nassau, Mr. Roy said, is very old-world. The culture there is British and most of the island is very quaint. But the tourist section is very luxurious, with many fabulous hotels. Mr. and Mrs. Roy hated to come home.

But they were not alone. The rest of the faculty regretfully returned after the holidays, too.

Mr. Adams returned from a trip to Salisbury and Charlotte, and to Duke University with Mr. Miller. Mr. Fisher spent his holidays at home in Rosman. Mr. Howe in Springfield, Illinois. Mrs. Louise Miller in Virginia. Miss Moser in Swannanoa, and Dr. Riegel with her brothers and sisters in Dey Rey, Florida.

The Murrays spent one day snowbound on a mountain.

The Roberts, for a change, stayed in Brevard, as did the Bennetts, Harrises, Munros, Keeters, Sigmons, and Miss Nicholson.

Now everyone is back and we wish them a Happy New Year.