After reports from other various committees, and the presentation of a citation of award to Mr. Gil Coan by Coach Chick Martin, the meeting concluded and the trustees were joined by several of their wives, officers of the College, and visitors for lunch in the Faculty Dining Room. Comedy And Conflict

DRAMA OPENS LYCEUM SERIES

"Comedy and Conflict", which will be presented in the CCB at 8:15 on November 20, at Brevard College, is a bright, new and original experience in theater.

It is a whirlwind performance of the classics which is produced to electrify audiences with a wealth of historical content, emotional impact and artistry of its players Jo Demmond and Frank Wittow.

From the moment the stars walk on the stage, the evening abounds with wit, witchery and wisdom which comes when you mix men and women and great playwrights.

The opening scene, taken from the Greek comedy "Aristophanes," sets the pace for an exciting evening of drama. Included in the program are scenes from Shakespeare's "MacBeth", Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire", George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman", and Eugene Inesco's "The Bald Soprano".

Miss Demmond and Mr. Wittow have become established names in radio, television, and the theater. Both are now associated with the Southeastern Academy of Theater and Music in Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Wittow is the founder and executive director of this eight year old professional repertory theater which produces both year-round dramas and the Southeastern Shakespeare Festival each summer. Miss Demmond is the leading actress of the Academy Theater.

"Comedy and Conflict" is directed by Mr. Wittow. It has been acclaimed by dramatic critics.

Jo Demmond has been following the spotlight since she was a five year old girl in her native Savannah, Georgia. Her entry into show business began as a singer on radio and a performer in dance revues.
