Freshmen Present Talent

Ronnie Braswell served as master of ceremonies for the freshman talent show which was held in the CCB on December 4th.

Jean Adamee and Rose Ehrhardt started the show off with a bang when they sang "Collegeiate", accompanied by Steve Foland, Bruce Wauchope, and Tony Argo.

A surprise group called "The Bourbon Street Three," consisting of Diane Lovelace, Steve Foland, and Bruce Wauchope gave a rendition of an old time "boogey woogie." "Trinidad" was sung by Ken Cooke and Doug Tanner. Exclamations of oh's and ah's were heard as Mary Jane Stephens sang "Almost There" accompanied by Diane Lovelace.

Another quick change of pace followed, with David McPherson's Indian dance. Appropriately enough, he was accompanied by Steve Foland.

Folk songs were presented by a quartet consisting of Alice McCabe, Shirley Callahan, Jean Baucom, and Sue Contreras. Charming the audience with a Hawaiian hula was Barbara Kirk, who was followed by Tony Argo with three piano solos.

"Andy Griffith" Tanner, (Doug except when he's on the stage!) wound up the program with his own version of "Roméo and Juliet."

Music Department Is Active

In the past half month, the Brevard College Glee Club has been extremely active in the number of recitals given, Prof. Nelson F. Adams, College Music Department Director has told the Clarion.

A series of recitals were performed in Henderson County high schools December 3 and 4, at East and West Henderson High Schools, East Flat Rock High, and Hendersonville High.

The singing group traveled to Asheville December 6, where they gave the first of three separate programs at Central Methodist Church in the morning. The second was at the opening session of the Asheville District Conference in Hendersonville, and the final performance was in Greenville, South Carolina, in the evening at St. Mark's Methodist.

On December 15, the Glee Club traveled to Spartanburg,

S. C., to video-tape a television program at WSPA-TV, Channel 7, for re-broadcast over that station December 20, at 1:00. This is the same program that was given in Chapel, in the Methodist Church, on Dec. 16.

Mr. Adams also releases news that five members of Brevard College, three students and two faculty members performed in the Asheville Symphony Orchestra in the second seasonal concert on Dec. 15. The three students are STEVE FOLAND, SANDI HARMON and PENNYE WILLIAMS. MISS JOAN MOSER and LARRY WHATLEY are the faculty representatives.

Also, a note of interest is that a faculty joint recital will be given by Harvey and Adelaide Miller, January 8, 1965.
