

Tanner Elected SGA President

Douglas Tanner, freshman from Rutherfordton, North Carolina, has been elected President of the Student Government Association for the 1965-66 school term. His selection by the student body terminated a week of campaigning.

The school-wide voting for SGA officers came on Tuesday, April 25, at a required assembly. Current SGA President Jim Hall presided at the meeting in which the candidates were introduced by their campaign managers. Tanner appealed to the students in a personal speech in which he declared that "a candidate can't campaign on promises of what he will do, but only on what he will try to do."

Holding the position of right-hand man to President Tanner will be "Honest Bob" Pickens. The Winfield, West Virginia native was elected Vice-president by his fellow students. The new Secretary-Treasurer is Miss Bunny George, of Jacksonville, Florida. Holding down the post of Social Chairman will be Frances Winney, who also hails from the Sunshine State. Frances ran unopposed.

Other candidates for offices were Flip Clark and John Dorsett, who ran for the office of President. The losing Vice-presidential candidate was Lawton Roberts. Nominated also for the position of Secretary-Treasurer was Miss Susan Wilson.

Nominators for the candidates included James Brown, who introduced Dorsett; Benji Sullivan, who presented Clark; David Morrow for Doug Tanner; David Drum, who introduced Honest Bob; Hugh Milner, who spoke for Bunny George; and John Brookshire and Sarah Scrivener, who spoke for Susan Wilson and Frances Winney.

The campaigns were marked by an abundance of the usual campaign "propaganda," the bulk of which took the form of posters of various sizes, shapes, and description. All of the literature served the purpose for which it was intended—interest.

Campaign highlights included a song, sponsored by the "Students for Tanner" Committee, shortly before election. The song was a take-off on the "MTA", popularized by the Kingston Trio in years past.

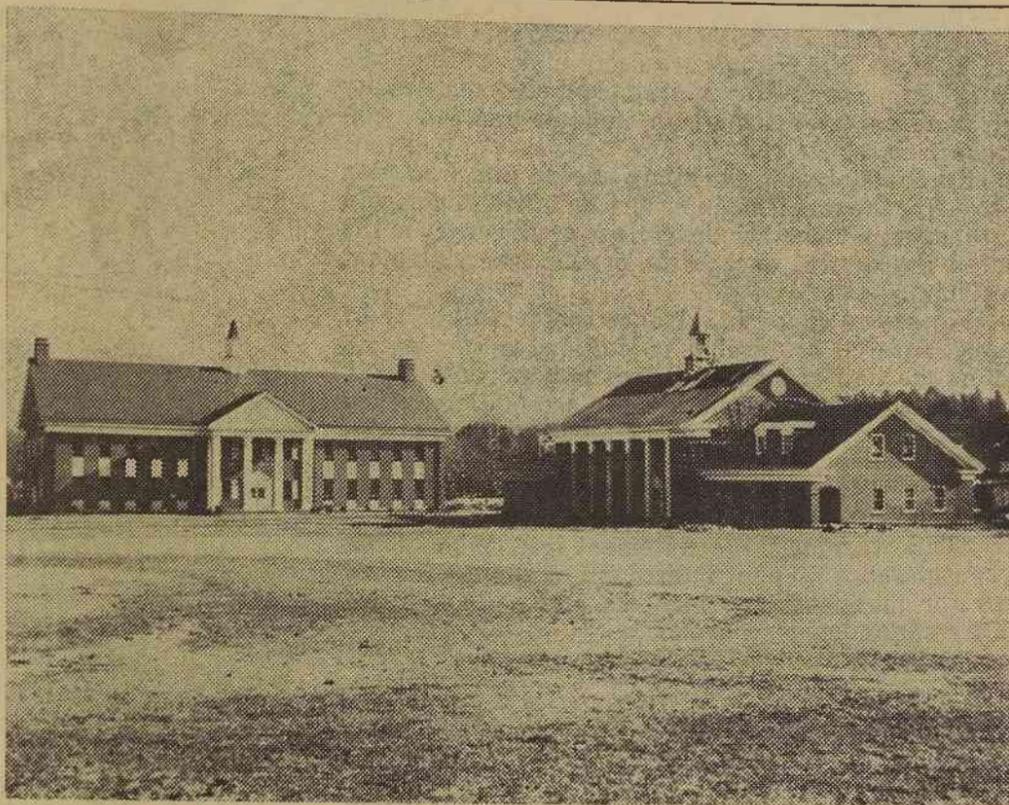

Dr. Kurland Speaks At Friday-At-Four

Dr. Jordan E. Kurland, Assistant Professor in History at UNC in Greensboro, will lecture in Dunham Auditorium at 4:00 today.

Dr. Kurland, frequent lecturer on various aspects of Russian life, education, and culture, has been a member of the UNCG faculty since 1954.

He has spent considerable time abroad, including a year in the Netherlands as a Fulbright Scholar. During 1959-60, he was an exchange scholar in the U.S.-U.S.S.R. exchange agreement in the cultural, educational, and technical fields.

Dr. Kurland arrived in Moscow in September 1959, and remained there until July 1960, serving as a member of the History Department of the University of Moscow, without teaching duties. During his stay there, he obtained permission (with some difficulty) to do research in the vaults of the Old Department of Foreign Affairs. He was the first American to be permitted to do so

TWO OF the buildings to be dedicated on May 7th are the Moore Science Building and the new Beam Administration Building (far right).

Buildings To Be Dedicated, Trustee Meeting To Be Held

Someone once said that a college is a matter of "continuing creation" — the building never stops. That's the way it is at Brevard College.

College officials are now busily planning the dedication of two new buildings, the athletic fields and the formal naming of the gymnasium.

The two buildings to be dedicated are the Grier Beam Administration Building and the Byran Moore Science Building both trustees of the college. The athletic fields are being dedicated to the memory of Flake Sherrill, of Statesville, a former trustee of the College. The new gymnasium will be formally named, "The Cary Boshamer Gymnasium".

The dedication ceremonies since before World War II. His particular research interest was concerned with the 17th century Russian foreign policy.

While in the Soviet Union, Dr. Kurland traveled extensively. He possessed a Russian passport, which is rarely given to a foreigner. It enabled him to visit in remote areas of Russia which are seldom seen by foreign travelers. With his fluent Russian, he was able to exchange views with residents of the communities he visited.

Dr. Jordan is a native of Boston, and received both his A.B. and A.M. degrees from Boston University. He received the Certificate of the Russian Institute of Columbia University. He also received his doctorate from Columbia.

will be held May 7th in the Campus Center Auditorium at 10:00 a. m.

Besides the construction of the new buildings, an extensive program of campus beautification is now in progress. A landscaping project is being carried out with the planting of maple and dogwood trees. About 50 trees have been planted, but officials said this is just the beginning.

On the drawing board is a plan for renovation of the present administration building which will become the Dunham Music Center. The architect is now working on preliminary drawings and it is hoped, according to President Emmett McLarty, that construction work on this project can begin this summer.

Dr. McLarty also outlined some major needs of the college for the near future. Officials hope to be able to have a new dormitory built to house at least 150 students so that future enrollments can be increased. A new library is planned and if this is approved, the old library will be renovated and turned into a Student Union.

A formal student recital will be given here tonight at 8:00 P.M. Piano, voice, and instrumental pieces will be performed. The one hour and fifteen minute recital will include a short comedy opera featuring sophomores, Sally Augustine and Johnny Goforth. The public is invited to attend.

On top of the building plans and dedication activities, the college is in the midst of processing applications for admittance of next year's students.

The college already has a full enrollment for the fall of 1966. As of April 10th, 614 applications have been received. Of these 289 had been admitted, 155 rejected and 137 are still being processed.

Admittance policy is based on the college program and the college purpose. The program is "university - paralleled" to give the student a liberal education, similar to the courses he would get during the first 2 years at a 4-year school. The College Purpose is to provide "a 2-year academic program, primarily designed and administered for qualified freshmen and sophomores, enabling them to continue more effectively their studies as juniors in a 4-year college".

Officials expect an enrollment for next year of about 400 resident students, 50 day students and several special students (music and part-time).

Total applications are up 35 percent over the same date last year and have increased 400 percent over the same date 5 years ago.

NELSON AND NEAL SCORE SUCCESS

Nelson and Neal, famed Australian-American two piano team, appeared in concert at Brevard College on Monday night. The duo-pianists scored a hit with the packed house of college students and townspeople.

For an hour and 45 minutes, the audience sat entranced with the team's skillful renditions of works by Mendelssohn, Brahms, and others. It was closely akin to watching a musical tennis match in which the team demonstrated split-second timing and perfect coordination. There wasn't a note out of place as the pair breezed through the concert with the perfectionism of the artists which they are.

Appearing here as part of the Lyceum series, the Neals scored the biggest hit yet in such a program. Many students went with the expectation that this would be "just another Lyceum Program", and came away pleasantly surprised. The appearance of such artists as the Neals is rare on the campus, but when they do appear, it is to the appreciation of the student body.
