

BREVARD COLLEGE MUSIC CHAMBER ENSEMBLE

College Chamber Ensemble Will Tour Beginning Saturday

The Brevard College Chamber Ensemble will be on tour March 1 - 4 and will sing for the morning service at Centenary Methodist Church in Winston - Salem, on March 2. They will sponsor a sacred concert that night at the Southside Baptist Church at 6:15 p. m. On Monday night, March 3, at 7:30 p. m., they will perform at the Broad Street Methodist Church in Statesville. They will be singing at several schools in the Winston - Salem, Statesville, and Hickory area during this time.

Composed of vocal and instrumental students, the group performs both sacred and secular music in churches, schools and civic organization meetings. The students are a selected group from the Glee Club and Concert Band of the college.

The members of the ensemble are Dony Kaye Holtzclaw, Alice Kissiah, Alice Knowles, Bonnie Merrill, Debbie van Seiver, Kathy Yokley, Geneal Wade, Penny Taylor, Bob Fisher, John Hurst, David Jennings, Alan Lathan, Terry McMahon, Ben Ramsaur, Fred Sharkey, Jimmy Thames, Harry Watkins, Mike Willis, George Gunza, John Hoppe, Bob Davenport, Nick Prout, John Wayant, Eddie Rousseau, and Lynn Price.

Disorder

(Continued from Page Two)

prescription, 'Speak Truth to Power.' Go to it."

With that, scattered applause was heard, but rapidly increased in volume. After about a minute and a half of almost thundering applause performed by about two hundred students, the cameras of NBC and ABC dismantled and the group dispersed.

Next week: A news conference with Muhammad Ali, formerly Cassius Clay.

Music Faculty Keeps Busy

The music department faculty has been extremely active in the past few days in preparing for and presenting programs. Miss Harriet Herring, pianist, presented a program for the Kiwanis Club ladies' night banquet held at the Brevard - Davidson River Presbyterian Church in Brevard last Thursday night, February 20.

Over this past weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Whatley attended the Sixth Annual Symposium of Contemporary Music for Brass in Atlanta, Georgia. It is sponsored by the Georgia State College Music Department and all the music is performed by their faculty and students. Two of the 1968 graduates from Brevard College Miss Peggy Killian and Mr. Charles Vernon are presently enrolled at Georgia State. Mr. Whatley's piece "sonata for Tuba and Piano" was given its first performance on Saturday morning, February 22.

On Monday night, February 24, the program for the Brevard Music Lovers' Club was presented by Mr. Nelson Adams. It was on the mix - up in the church in the areas of liturgy and hymnody. It considered where we are, where we might be heading, whether or not we shall try to change the direction.

(A copy of the speech by Michael Zweig is available from the CLARION upon request.)

Romeo and Juliet Revealed To College Group

Approximately fifty members of the Brevard College community had a glimpse of another era and gained insight into their own time period Tuesday night. Ten percent of the student body traveled to Asheville's Terrace Theatre to see the Fellinis production of Romeo and Juliet, even though no one was required to go or received extra credit.

The trip was organized and sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Owen of the Department of English, and was helped by Mr. Ray Fisher, Department of Social Sciences, who drove the bus. Other faculty members and students helped by providing their automobiles to take the over-flow crowd.

College people who had read the play, seen other productions, and a few who had taught the play were caught up in the excitement of Shakespeare's use of emotions. One student confessed that she held her breath during the last scenes; she wanted desperately for Juliet to awaken in time to save her lover. Later the same student realized that she had seen the movie just a month ago.

As the group returned to cars and the "Blue Goose" to return to campus, one question was heard many times: "Why don't we do this more often?"

Methodist Student Movement Attends Retreat At ASU

"The Campus and Yesterday's People" was the theme of the annual Methodist Student Movement retreat held at Appalachian State University this past week end.

The group which consisted of students from colleges and universities throughout the state dug deeply into the problems of poverty and racism. This was done by the use of films, speakers, and group discussions.

"Damn it," interrupted Keny Eaton of Brevard College during the Sunday morning worship service. The rash statement shocked the audience but it was planned that way in order to provoke discussion on the question of what is wrong with the Church. It worked as everyone became involved in the discussion.

The visiting students also enjoyed the hospitality of the Appalachian State University MSM chapter. Saturday night there was a basketball game and coffee house entertainment on campus.

The MSM chapter was appreciative to Appalachian State University, the First Methodist Church, the Religious Activities fund and to Mr. and Mrs. E. Wannamaker Hardin for making the trip possible.

Congratulations

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cort became the proud parents of an 8 pound baby boy Tuesday morning.

The baby, born in Hendersonville, has not yet been named. Will he be "Charlie Jr." is a question in the minds of Brevard students.

WHAT'S HAPPENING!!

- March 4—5:30 Christian Council
- 6:30 S. A. C.
- March 5—6:30 Chapel
- 7:45 S. G. A.
- March 6—5:30 Newman Club
- 5:30 S. N. E. A.
- March 7—5:30 Methodist S. F.

ABG Presents Career Night

Alpha Beta Gamma held its third annual Career Night last Thursday evening in the cafeteria.

Approximately fifty students met with sixteen scientists and instructors of science, representing fields of psychology, mathematics, veterinary medicine, and physical therapy, from Greenville, Asheville, and surrounding areas.

Students discussed their fields of interest with the professional that represented that field. Each student garnered much from his brief encounter with professionalism.

Miss Bobbie Jean Nicholson is the sponsor of Alpha Beta Gamma.

CO - ED

Today Through Sat.

the monkees
are here in head

A COLUMBIA PICTURE
TECHNICOLOR

Olin

ECUSTA PAPER
and
FILM DIVISIONS
PISGAH FOREST, N. C.