Music Director Leads Active And Busy Life

By MARK TODD

Have you ever studied a person with an important job, noting the numerous responsibilities involved, and wondering how he ever manages to accomplish his day to day tasks? On the campus of Brevard College, there is such a man, Mr. Nelson F. Adams, Director of the Division of Fine Arts, who fits this description.

Since 1955, Mr. Adams has been involved with the Administrative work of the Music Department. Presently he is on Sabbatical leave, working here half the time, and studying for a comprehensive oral exam which he plans to take Oct. 10 in New York. After passing this exam he will have only his dissertation left in his advanced studies.

He meets weekly with the music faculty to discuss upcoming recitals, coordinates the theory program with Mr. Cousins, works out the details of various tours for the College ensembles, and arranges for special performances or visiting artists on campus.

Also, this year he is working with Mr. Bowles to produce a music department newsletter six times a year. To improve publicity for the Department, Mr. Adams met with Mr. Bowles and the music faculty to discuss new ideas on this subject earlier in the year.

Some of the many long range plans Mr. Adams is working on now are application for a full membership of the College in the National Association of the Music Library, more audio visual equipment, and plans for the Contemporary Art Festival. Also under his leadership, the College is working on recruitment problems, auditions, and development of a better precollege music program for area

Legislature Approves Proposal Concerning Coed Closing Hours

A proposal to change the Friday night closing hours for women passed by a unanimous vote in the first meeting of the new Student Legislature held Wednesday evening.

The proposal, presented by

Beam Dormitory Representative Miss Patty Cerny, stated in effect that the present closing hour, which is now 12 o'clock midnight, on Friday nights be moved back one hour to one o'clock Saturday morning. The reason, as stated in the written proposal presented to the Legislature, was the Administration's switch to a five - day week which went into effect this academic year.

The closing hour for women in the past on Friday nights has taken into the consideration of having classes on the following day. Miss Cerny's proposal was presented to equalize the amount of liberty that is granted to the coeds on Saturday night closing hour is one o'clock Sunday morning.

Eaton Approves

Student Government Association president Ken Eaton said that he would approve the bill when it was sent to him. The president of the SGA has the power to veto.

The bill will then be sent to the office of the Dean of the College, Dean Grady H. Whicker. Dean Whicker was not available for comment on the bill at press time.

In other action taken by the Student Legislature, several appointments were made. Miss Cerny was named Parliamentarian, Bob Davenport was appointed Speaker Protem, and Dave Chestnut was elected as the Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Legislature will have a vacancy to fill at its next meeting due to having only three Freshmen Representatives while the Constitution calls for four.

The next meeting of the Legislature is set for a week from Wednesday night. All students are invited to attend.

Library Facilities Open To All College Students

By DONNA MILLS

Have you come to see me lately? If you haven't, you're one of the few persons at Brevard who hasn't this year. Students are using my new facilities to many advantages. Mrs. Robert Campbell, head librarian, is using her many talents to see that my greatest potentials are being fulfilled. Working with her is Mrs. Mary Stevenson and Mr. Charles Henritze. They see that various functions are performed daily.

Mrs. Louise Price is the first full-time secretary to work with me. Student help is as big as ever with me this year; he is very useful in carrying the heavy loads and doing odd jobs.

Mrs. Campbell and I agree that my faculty lounge should be used. I bet you didn't even know this lounge was there, did you? We need couches, chairs, and curtains, to make it practicable. Dishes are also needed if we want to use the lounge for teas. The Faculty Library Committee holds regular meetings and is trying to see these plans carried out.

Mrs. Campbell also wants the Seminar Room used. A white blackboard was added this year.

It is portable and can be used for writing and for showing films, but black-out-curtains are needed so that the films can be shown.

Microfilm is a big asset to me. We have two readers, but we need more film. Although we lack an index, we have big sections of film from the New York Times and from the two World Wars.

Only one main problem has arisen so far. There are too many cigarette butts on my front steps. This can be very embarrassing to me when visitors come. Could you help erase this annoying problem?

Two assemblies are being planned for you — about me! They are called Advanced Orientation. For the Sophomores this includes an introduction of new faces and my new equipment. A film will be shown on Communications. A Freshmen assembly will include more orientation and also a film, so please come!!

Greensboro College President Speaks At Brevard College

Dr. David G. Moberley, newly - elected president of Greensboro College, spoke to the faculty and student body at Brevard College on Wednesday, of this week.

One of three new presidents of Methodist - related colleges in North Carolina, Dr. Moberley came to the Greensboro post from Lycoming College in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, where he had served as Professor of Biology since 1965.
