

Students May Be Asked To Boycott

SECOND OF THREE

Music Showcase Weekend Begins Today

After having some difficulty in establishing the two-thirds quorum required for a meeting, the Student Government Association began its meeting, Wednesday, Feb. 25.

The first of four proposals presented to the legislature concerned the reducing of rooming fees in Green, Jones, and Taylor Dormitories to payments substantially lower than those for rooming in Beam Dormitory. This proposal was defeated by a vote of 8 against, 7 for the proposal, and 4 abstained. The SGA's vote in this case will serve only as student opinion for the Administration which will make the final decision.

Next, the SGA voted, positively, to sponsor the nationwide referendum on Viet Nam during the week of March 3rd. The SGA's part in sponsoring this referendum will primarily concern the encouragement of the student body to vote.

Allen Clement, a representative of Taylor Dormitory then proposed that the administration look into the possibility of Green and Taylor Dormitories being furnished with additional drinking fountains and telephones. This proposal was passed unanimously for consideration by the administration.

Then, with the help of two Green Dormitory students and a petition signed by all of Green's men, the SGA passed

—Turn to Page Three

MANY OF BREVARD'S STUDENTS take to the hills on the weekend for the purpose of enjoying the sport of mountain climbing. Here

John Naves travels precariously up a steep cliff with a long drop behind him if he falters.

(Photo by John Wayant)

Prospective Music Students Attend

For the second year the music department has planned three special weekends designed for prospective music students. The second of these will be held February 27th - March 1. Each weekend includes informal picnics, audition - interviews for prospective music majors, trips into the mountains, surrounding Brevard, and other activities.

The weekend will begin at 3 p. m. on Friday with registration, followed by an assembly at 5:00, both in Dunham Music Center. At 5:30 the registrants, their families, music students, and faculty will hold a picnic at Burl Mountain. A formal student recital at 8 p. m. in Dunham will close the day's activities.

Saturday morning will consist of auditions and interviews, with an assembly for all registrants, scheduled for 11:30 a. m. in the auditorium. The afternoon schedule includes a tour of the campus starting from the Music Center and a faculty recital at 3:30 p. m. in the auditorium. Saturday night the prospective students will be guests at the Music Revue presented by the Theatre Arts Department at 8:00 p. m. in the Drama Barn. The weekend will close with a tour of Biltmore House and Gardens leaving at 1:30 from Dunham Music Center and returning at 5:30 p. m.

Applications Due For Austria Program

The deadline for accepting applications for the Eastern European Study Center in Graz, Austria, for 1970 is March 1, 1970.

Dr. Donald Stanton, Registrar for the seven - week study program sponsored by the 30 member colleges of the Association for Colleges and Universities in International - Intercultural Studies, reports that many applications have been received and processed. Enrollment must be limited to 200 because of jet reservations, size of accommodations, and need for advance planning on group travel arrangements. A number of places, however, are still available.

The campus faculty representative of ACUIIS has complete information on the program and application blanks for those interested.

Briefly, the program is as follows:

Leave July 6 for seven weeks of study programs centered on Eastern Europe, with the study center in Graz, Austria's second largest city. Classes four days per week, six hours of credit total. Instructors from Europe and America with outstanding backgrounds in their fields, all related to Central and Eastern European studies. One week - long field trip into an area of interest to your coursework, i.e., Salzburg for the Music Festival, Yugoslavia or Hungary for the study of Communist cultures or peasant societies, Vienna to meet with Freudian psychoanalysts, etc. Living in Graz for six of the seven weeks gives you a unique opportunity to see how the Austrians really live, what they think of Americans and their way of life, and how they view the international situation from a neutralist position.

Graz is a city of 250,000 people, and an historic city with the world's largest collection of medieval armor and a beautiful mountain right in the heart of the city.

The cost of the program is $850 for jet fare from Washington and back, tuition, room with breakfast, and the week-long study trip. Additional costs will include two meals per day on your own in the delightful and inexpensive restaurants in the city, books, and whatever sightseeing and shopping you would like to do. A payment schedule stretching out payments between now and early in May has been established.

The students who took part in the first summer study program enthusiastically endorsed it for its approach to study the Europeans as they are, and for its opportunities to get into the far reaches of the European continent.

For further information, see your faculty representative or write directly to ACUIIS, P.O. Box 871, Nashville, Tennessee 37202.

Main Building At Graz

Miss Joan Moser Rejoins Faculty

Miss Joan Moser rejoined the college music faculty with the beginning of the spring semester. Miss Moser was in residence at the University of Michigan during the fall semester completing all course requirements for the doctorate in Music.

Miss Moser is currently teaching the freshman music literature course, sight - singing, and dictation theory, and offers private instruction in woodwinds and classical guitar. She is co-director of the Wind Ensemble.

Asheville Concert Set For March 3

The Reverend Nelson F. Adams, Brevard College Chairman of the Division of Fine Arts, has announced a remainder to season ticket holders for the 1969 - 70 Asheville Community Concert Series that the appearance of Soprano Elizabeth Schwazkopf, originally scheduled for March 23, is set for Tuesday, March 3.