JACK AND SALLY JENKINS to Appear
Saturday Night

Former B.C. Teacher Dies

Miss Dulcie Hayes, former language teacher at Brevard College died in her home town, Ogden, Illinois, October 9, 1970.

Miss Hayes came to Brevard College in 1934 and taught French and Spanish until her retirement in 1959.

During her long and successful teaching career, she held only three positions: Louisburg College for two years, Weaver College for eight years, and Brevard College for twenty-five years.

Along with her teaching duties at Brevard College Miss Hayes frequently served as dean of women, chaperon, nurse, and confidante to the students, who always felt free to share their joys and sorrows with her. She was never too busy to give students extra help. It was not uncommon to find students studying in her home any night of the week. Believing in the axiom that a teacher hasn't taught until the student has learned, Miss Hayes was determined that her students would learn.

Her salary was never too modest to have enough money to pay the initiation fee into an honor society for a financially handicapped student. This gift was usually anonymous, for she didn't want the student to feel indebted to her.

Miss Hayes' dedication was such that the worth of the individual was important. Because of this feeling, she always looked for and found the good qualities; consequently, students who were academic or disciplinary problems usually became worthwhile citizens and made distinct contributions to society.

She always found time in her busy schedule for scholastic improvement. For many years she was a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, an International Society for Key Women Teachers; Business and Professional Women's Club; North Carolina Teachers' Association; sponsor for Sigma Pi Alpha, the honorary language fraternity at Brevard College. She was also a member of the Eastern Star, American Association of University Women, and an active member of the Brevard Methodist Church. Regardless of the organization or the activities undertaken, she was always a willing worker and a proud representative.

In October, 1957, the Brevard Business and Professional Women's Club bestowed on Miss Hayes "Woman of the Year." The entire program was a salute to her; and in recognition of her long and faithful service to the club, she was presented with a lifetime membership.

Retirement for Miss Hayes meant both happiness and sadness — happiness because she would return to her home and family in Ogden, and sadness because she was leaving North Carolina and her many friends here.

A friend and co-worker said of her, "She always brings out the best in a person." What a great tribute to a fine educator.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Clarion Staff and College Community extends Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. McCall.

Mrs. McCall is an employee in the College Store.

Jack And Sally Jenkins To Appear

The Mutual Concert Association opens its fall season in cooperation with the Lyceum series at Brevard College on this coming Saturday evening, October 17, at 8:15 at Dunham Auditorium. The opening attraction is JACK AND SALLY JENKINS, two talented vocalists who perform with a backup group of three instrumentalists.

One of the most popular collegiate attractions today, Jack and Sally offer a two-hour concert, displaying extraordinary versatility. Accompanied by their instrumental trio, they perform many styles of music. Medleys from Broadway musicals, folk songs, country western, currently popular ballads, and original satirical material based on topical themes are all uniquely presented.

Jack and Sally have performed on many nationally broadcast television shows including the Ed Sullivan Show. The talented singers were discovered by Guy Lombardo. When he saw them perform in Chicago, he was so impressed with their talents that he booked them on a year-long national concert tour. Aside from the many exciting musical arrangements within their concert, there is a great deal of theater. Their entire production is staged and choreographed. They also utilize clever lighting and magnificent costuming.

They have performed in every major supper club in North and South America. Highlights for them during recent seasons have been numerous. Recently, they were chosen to perform for eight weeks during the grand opening of Howard Hughes' new Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas. They hold the record for return engagements at the world famous Fontainebleau Hotel in Miami Beach. Even with all the glamor attached to a supper club opening, Jack and Sally prefer the college concert. For them the most rewarding performances are those before college audiences.

The appearance of Jack and Sally, as well as all other lyceum programs, are paid for with part of the general fee, paid by all students. Therefore, students may, with no additional charge, pick up their tickets in the music office between 4:00 and 8:00. Four hundred tickets will be available.

Academic Skills Lab Is A

Valuable Aid To B.C. Students

Fall Vacation

Begins Oct. 21

The Academic Skills Lab is designed to aid the students in many ways. Directed by Miss Burgess and Mrs. Whicker, the Lab not only helps students to increase their vocabulary but also to improve their reading speed and comprehension.

The three goals or purposes of the Lab are (1) To help the individual student gain necessary study skills to achieve and maintain a "C" average here at Brevard, (2) To improve reading ability (This includes increased rate of reading and comprehension. Students learn exactly what is involved in the reading process.) (3) To discover what his motivation is and thus, learn to have confidence in himself.

The Lab is equipped with various instruments. The Tachistoscope is an instrument which enables the student to learn to read phrases instead of word for word. Cassettes are available to the student for tips on how to study for various subjects. The "Vocab" series is a film strip with a cartoon. In this cartoon a man pronounces a word, gives its definition and then gives a synonym for the word. Books are available to the student and can be checked out.

Tactics II sets are used not only in reading but in English and spelling. The main goal of the Lab is to aid the student in any field of academic difficulty. Once the student is helped, he then becomes motivated.

The course was recommended by the Academic Standards and Admissions Committee, and the content was determined by the Curriculum Committee of the college. In the fall semester last year of 80 students in the Lab, 37 attained a "C" average. This is a far greater percentage than that of the students who were not in the lab. Two who completed the course this summer and are now student assistants are Eddie Hash and Buzzy Kimmins. In speed reading, Buzzy holds the school record so far, having attained the greatest number of words per minute with 80 - 100% comprehension.

Students discover after much practice, that comprehension increases as their speed increases. They cease to dwell on the words and find they maintain higher interest in the ideas the words are expressing.

Community Concert To Be Held Tuesday

The first in a series of five Asheville Community Concerts will be held Tuesday night, October 20, at 8:00. This first concert will be given by the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra from England.

Season tickets are available for $10, and all unsold tickets will be sold for $2 per concert. Free transportation will be furnished by campus bus, which will leave the college at 6:30.

An informal recital will be held at 4:00 on Tuesday at Brevard First United Methodist Church. The recital will feature organists, vocalists, and instrumentalists.

Homecoming Proves A Memorable Occasion

Homecoming was a memorable occasion last week at Brevard. The dormitories were cleverly decorated with Jones Dormitory winning the first prize of $50.00 and Taylor Dormitory, second prize of $10. The winning dorm was decorated as a steamboat.

Brevard's soccer team made an otherwise rainy day quite a bit brighter by defeating Oxford College 17 - 1. The highlight of Brevard College Homecoming was the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, Miss Jenny Lucas. The Freshman attendants were Miss Libby Moody and Miss Patti Smith. Jenny's court consisted of Miss Norma Distler and Carol Williams, and Carol Thenoils as Sophomore attendants.

Brevard College will observe fall vacation beginning with the close of classes on Wednesday, October 21 and ending with the resumption of classes on Monday, October 26. The much needed break from the College routine will see a mass exodus by students to places near and far. The fall vacation is a new innovation this year, and was originally intended to take the place of the regular Thanksgiving vacation; however, it was later decided that it would be in the best interests of the college community to be able to go home for Thanksgiving. The Thanksgiving vacation will be held November 25 - 30, followed shortly by semester exams, which end officially on December 18, signaling the start of the Christmas holidays.

SGA Holds Its Second Meeting

The SGA held its second meeting of the semester, Wednesday, Sept. 31, 1970. A decision was reached and presented to members of the Student Government Association concerning the proposal "bare feet in the parlor." A response from the Office of Student Affairs and Dean Ferree is as follows:

"Any manner of lounging without shoes in the lobbies of Beam and Jones will continue to be unacceptable in regard to the total decorum which the college is endeavoring to create."

Committees have also been appointed, which the SGA members hope will create a more incisive understanding on campus of what SGA is all about. Committees such as Public Relations, Handbook, Constitution, Election (and all others) ask your help and support in helping them make this year the greatest year in the history of Brevard College for the SGA.
