

SNOW BLANKETS BREVARD here as seen from atop the Student Union in last week's heavy snowfall. The storm marked the end of a snowy March and indicated that spring had yet to arrive. Hopefully, warmer days are now here to stay.

Dr. Langford To Speak At Monday's Convocation

Dr. Thomas A. Langford, who was voted "Outstanding Teacher of Undergraduates" by the Student Government of Duke University in 1965 and received one of six national Danforth Foundation awards for distinguished teaching in 1966, will be guest speaker at the next College Convocation on Monday, April 5, at 7:30 p. m. The program will be held in the college gymnasium in order to accommodate visitors from the community who may wish to hear Dr. Langford, who is Chairman of Duke University's Department of Religion. The program will be a worship service as a part of the college's observance of Holy Week. Dr. Langford's topic will be "The Command of Love."

Deeply involved in student life at Duke University, he has been Chairman of the Student-Faculty Administrative Council and a member of the YMCA

Board of Directors. He served on the Task Force which sought a resolution of issues after the student vigil and the student-police disturbances at Duke and has recently been Chairman of a special committee making recommendations on changes in housing patterns for undergraduates at Duke. He served on the Committee to search for a new President at Duke and the Selection Committee for a Director of a Black studies Program. He is the co-editor of five books on philosophy of religion which are widely used as textbooks in college philosophy courses. Additionally, he has authored a book on British theology entitled In Search of Foundation. Articles by him have appeared in Motive, Christian Century, Religion in Life, The Christian Scholar, Interpretation, Journal of Religion, and other periodicals.

Dr. Langford received the AB degree from Davidson College, the BD and PHD degrees from Duke University. He is a Minister of the United Methodist Church and has served pastorates prior to pursuing graduate study. Since 1956 he has been teaching at Duke and has also been Visiting Professor of Religion at UNC Chapel Hill. He is much in demand as a lecturer, preacher, and leader in Religious Emphasis weeks on college campuses.

Following the Convocation program Dr. Langford will be available for a talk - back session and a discussion period in the classroom in the gym.

Second Discussion Session Is Planned

In an attempt to tighten the "communication gap" that has been put before us, student Milton Rankin would like to extend an invitation to all persons interested in participating in a round-table discussion on Human Relations on April 20, at 6:30 p. m. in the Student Union Building. Several faculty members and many interested members of the Brevard community are planning to attend.

The meeting will be somewhat of a re-match of a slightly heated discussion on Black Awareness in which the AAUW participated. An outstanding young Black educator, Miss Maxine West, served as guest speaker, and she is expected to be on hand for the re-match.

Brevard College students are urged to attend this discussion. Interested persons should contact Milton Rankin before April 15.

Campus Open House Held For County High School Students

The Admission Office with the assistance of the Day Student Club is having an Open House for Transylvania County High School Juniors and Seniors on Saturday morning, April 3. The program, which will begin at 9:30 a. m. for coffee in the new Sims Student Center, will involve a campus tour by students from the Transylvania area who are now enrolled at Brevard College. Complimentary lunch will be served in the Dining Hall following the tour of campus and discussions with academic division chairmen.

Mr. Ludwigen, Director of Admissions, hopes to increase the College's effectiveness in the community by presenting the excellent opportunities for higher education at Brevard College to area residents. "Time has proved that some of our best students have come from right here in the county. We feel that we have a real commitment to our local young people and we want them to know more about us and the programs we offer."

Junior and Senior high students from Brevard and Rosman High Schools are cordially invited to be the guest of the college on campus with their parents on Saturday morning, April 3.

New Constitution Nears Completion

"The new Constitution for the students is almost finished and ready to be submitted for ratification," reports the Legislature's Constitution Committee.

Last year, the old Constitution was found to be lacking; so a committee was organized this year to revise it. The committee, consisting of Dave Chesnut, Lindsay Burbage, Bobby Kennedy, and David Holcombe, as advisor, decided to rewrite the Constitution rather than revise the old one.

Many things will remain the same, but there are also many changes. Among these the whole system's name has been changed from Student Government Association to the Brevard College Student Union which more accurately explains its many faceted activities. The erroneously labeled "SGA" now officially becomes the Legislature. The Judicial Board and Social Board will retain their names.

Other proposed changes include a complete revamping and overhauling of the Social Board with almost all its members elected by the students. Also the intramural program has been put under a committee of the Social Board to prevent controversies over biases.

Dormitory presidents will become part of the SU with their duties and requirements spelled out. This is designed to make the dorm presidents coordinators for the Legislature and Social Board representatives of their dorm and leaders in life.

The Legislature will see a cut in the number of dorm representatives in order to allow for a more equal representation. The selection of the secretary will be different and the treasurer will be picked from the Legislative membership.

The office of the Vice President of the SGA will be abolished. Instead, serving under the President of the SU is the Speaker of the Legislature and Director of the Social Board. This group of three, plus a cabinet composed of student representatives to faculty committees, comprises the Executive Department.

Under the General Provisions section, the impeachment process is spelled out. Also in this is the Amending Process for the Rules of Social Behavior which gives the Legislature sole power to initiate changes in these rules and gives the student body and the faculty the right to approve any changes.

No great changes were made in the Judicial Board other than spelling out some rights of the students that existed previously but were not generally known.

If the constitution is approved, the elections this spring will be for officers in the new constitution. Many new offices were created and need dedicated students to fill them.

The Constitution Committee hopes to present the new document to the students on April 7, provided no last minute snags appear.

If you are interested in run-
—Turn to Page Two

Spring Election Schedule Is Announced Tuesday

The initial stages of spring elections have already been announced to the students in last week's edition of The Clarion.

However the Elections Committee is submitting a schedule of the spring elections for your benefit.

Much has been said about the elections this spring, but their importance cannot be overemphasized. Every student is urged to participate in several ways. First, consider yourself as a candidate, or as least support a candidate; and if you do nothing else, be informed and vote.

Easter Vacation Next Weekend

Brevard College will observe an Easter Vacation next weekend beginning with the close of classes on Thursday, April 8. Classes will resume on Monday, April 12. Students wishing to remain on campus over the weekend should contact the Dean of Student Affairs today.

April 6 - 7 p. m. — Meeting of Dorm Presidents and Elections Committee

April 7 - 10 a. m. — Assembly for the discussion of the Constitution

11 a. m. - 1:30 p. m. — Student vote in Cafeteria or ratification of Constitution

2 p. m. - 4:00 p. m. — Student vote on Constitution in the Student Union Building

April 8 - 6:30 p. m. — Meeting of all interested students seeking a student government office

12 midnight - deadline for a student to declare his candidacy for a dorm officer

April 14 - Dorm Elections and deadline for a student to declare candidacy for school office

April 19 - 4 p. m. — Campaign speeches of all candidates in Student Union Building

April 20 - 10 a. m. - 2 p. m. — Voting in the Student Union Building

5 - 8 p. m. — Voting April 21 — results completed for all elections