Bi-Monthly Worship For Campus

by Lisa Atkins
 Whatever happened to student worship on campus? In view of the fact that many students have asked this same question, the Religious Activities Committee at Brevard College has organized an opportunity for on-campus worship. These services, which began on February 3, are interdenominational, student led, and strictly volunteer. They will be held every other Wednesday in Dunham Auditorium during the 1:30 free hour.

One of the main reasons behind the organization of these services is the fact that many students, who are very busy and have no time for attending regular worship services, have expressed a desire for some sort of on-campus worship opportunity. It is the hope of all involved in organizing these services that they (the service) will serve to meet the needs of these students.

Hey guys & gals it's time for school again! Too soon, I know, but to start the new semester off right, the professionals at Margaret's Cut Above, are offering a 10% discount through March 30.

REWARD OFFERED!

A modest reward is being offered for information leading to the recovery of a handmade kneeling cushion for the First United Methodist Church Prayer Stand.

This beautiful cushion is very special since it was made by the women of the church who spent countless hours on this project.
