

Student Poll: Some Say BC Needs Fire Drills

By Wanda Raines

A survey conducted in Jones Hall after a recent fire on the third floor of that dorm concluded that most people believe fire drills should be instigated on campus.

Others commented that a plan of escape should be specified. Still others say drills and plans of escape are but a waste of time.

Responses of some of those polled are as follows:

Freshman Denise Reddick: "I feel that they (the drills) are necessary for the protection of our property, as well as our lives."

Freshman Denece Talley: "If there was a fire, there would be a panic situation, so something should be pre-planned."

Freshman Laura Davis: "We need fire drills for practice; an escape plan and perhaps a meeting demonstrating to us how to work fire extinguishers would help."

Freshman Cheryl Vickers: "Yes, for safety reasons, so people would know what to do in case of a fire."

Sophomore Jennifer Darby: "Yes, we should have fire drills to promote student awareness."

Sophomore Michelle Weisheit: "Yes, because I believe this building is unsafe; the wall are hot and I'm afraid they'll catch on fire."

However, others stated otherwise.

Sophomore Susie Kelly: "They should give us an escape plan, but by the time you get to college, you should be able to find your way out of a building in case of fire."

Others agreed with Susie in that escape plans would be helpful, but that the actual fire drill practice would be a waste of time.

'You Can't Take It With You' Premiers this Friday Night

The Brevard College Theatre Arts Department, under the direction of Mr. Sam Cope, will present the Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman comedy, "You Can't Take It With You" on November 4, 5, 6, 11, 12, and 13 in the Barn Theatre at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

There will be a Sunday Matinee performance the 7th, at 2:30 p.m.

The plot brings together the "mad" Sycamore family and the unhappy Kirby family, but before the play has progressed very far the audience realizes that if the Sycamores are mad, the rest of the world is madder.

Tony, the attractive son of the Kirbys', falls in love with Alice Sycamore and brings his parents to dine with the Sycamores the wrong evening.

After seeing the two families together Alice decides she cannot marry Tony. The Sycamores, though sympathetic with Alice, cannot understand her reasoning.

Tony, who likes the Sycamores and feels they are right and his family is wrong, will not give Alice up. All of these events occur amid the strange activities of certain members of the Sycamore family.

A Sycamore is manufacturing fireworks, one has a printing press in a the parlor, and Grandpa has an interview with the tax collector in which Grandpa tells him that he doesn't believe in income tax.

"Our particular production has been a fun show to put together; I have a nice group to work with, some inexperienced talent, but everybody had been responsible and responsive," stated Mr. Cope. "A lot of hard work, and a great many hours have gone into it; if people miss the show they will have missed a very fun evening," he added.

Members of the cast include Len Brown as Grandpa, Pam Brittingham as Penelope Sycamore, Jamie Tucker as Paul Sycamore, Pamela Ward as Essie Carmichael, and Jeff Rockett as Ed Carmichael.

Also in the play are Lynda Ferrell, Monica Carter, Bill Kreece, but are required to reserve seats in advance.

The Hart and Kaufman comedy is one of the most popular and successful plays of modern times.

Asheville FBI Agent Speaks at Brevard

By Regina Wortman

Numerous law officials attended Brevard College's Law Enforcement Recognition Day on October 20.

Among the special guests were Police Chief L.B. Vaughn, members of the Brevard Police Department, Sheriff Milford Hubbard, members of the Transylvania County Sheriff's Department, members of the N.C. Highway Patrol, Brevard Mayor Charles Campbell, County Commissioner Bill Ives, Judge Robert Gash, SBI agent David Jones, and the BC Security Staff.

The highlight of the evening was a short speech given by John Quigley, an FBI representative from Asheville.

Quigley stated, "The only thing necessary for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing."

He then proceeded to describe some of the responsibilities of the law officer. The FBI agent said the law officer "works while others sleep and play;" his "every action is scrutinized and sometimes criticized."

In addition, he said we look to officers "to be tough, fair, understanding, and to protect life and property."

Quigley summed up his ideas by saying, "How do you spell relief? I spell relief 'Y', 'O', 'U'. You (law officers) are our relief from anxiety and fear."

After Quigley's speech, President Martison presented three Brevard College Distinguished Service Awards. The awards were presented to the Transylvania County Sheriff's Department, the Brevard Police Department, and the N.C. Highway Patrol in recognition of their outstanding service to the community.

Beginning Friday, November 5, and lasting throughout the weekend, the Student Association of Brevard College will sponsor another Parent's Weekend.

Events begin on Friday when the parents will be allowed to attend classes. That afternoon the NJCAA Region X soccer tourney, hosted by Brevard, will take place. Parents are invited to attend this competition.

Theatre at 7:30 p.m.

On Saturday, the 6th, there's going to be a special buffet breakfast for the parents in the cafeteria.

Also that evening, the Brevard College Stage Band will stage a "Big Band" concert for the parents, an event Dean Wray says has been popular with the parents in past years.

On Sunday, a special college worship service will take place in Dunham Auditorium. This will feature the Brevard Collegiate Singers and the Chamber Choir. President Martison will make a few remarks at this event.

At 2:30, the play will again performed in the Barn Theatre.
