Threshold Performs At Homecoming

By Robin Harper

Threshold, a high-energy dance band, will provide the music for Brevard College's Homecoming Dance on Saturday, October 13.

Voted the No. 1 high school prom band in 1983, Threshold has gained a strong popularity in the southeast by playing at nightclubs, colleges, and high schools for the past seven years.

With hits by Prince, Hall and Oates, Lionel Richie, Dazz Band, Genesis, and Van Halen as well as their own creations, Threshold promises a variety of songs that will please every musical taste.

This six-piece band creates its dynamite sound with lead and bass guitars, drums and percussion, saxophone, flute, keyboards, and five vocalists. Their stage show is backed up by an elaborate lighting system and a professional sound technician.

The Homecoming Dance will be held in the auxiliary gym at 9:00 p.m. Formal attire is requested.

Politicians Visit Campus

By Eddie Tadlock

On Wednesday, October 3, at 11:00 a.m., representatives of the Democratic Party, including State Representative Jim Crawford, will hold an open forum and discussion with interested students in Dunham Auditorium. Democrats, Republicans, Independents, and "undecideds" are all invited to attend and present questions to the Democratic representatives.

On Wednesday, September 19, the Student Government Association sponsored two Republican speakers, Bill Ives, a candidate for State Representative, and Fran Waser, a candidate for re-election.

In a brief lecture they discussed some national political issues ranging from nuclear arms to voter registration. They also gave a few comments along the lines of political apathy displayed by today's younger generation. Later the floor was opened for questions and discussion.

For those students who attended, it was a rare opportunity to hear and discuss political issues without the distraction of the rigamarole associated with a political campaign.

Eddie Tadlock, President of the SGA, said, "By sponsoring these political speakers and giving the students a chance to expand on their political awareness, hopefully when the national elections come up in November a better understanding of politics and the democratic process will simplify one's choice at the polls.

Art/Literary Contest Sponsored

$160 in prizes for student creative writing and art work will be awarded in a contest sponsored this semester by the Chiaroscuro, the campus literary magazine. The awards will be announced when the magazine is published in February, with further recognition coming on Honors Day in April.

$25 First Prizes and $15 Second Prizes will be given in each of these categories: 1)poetry, 2)fiction, 3)photography/drawing/printmaking, and 4)painting/sculpture.

Poems and stories should be submitted in duplicate, without names. Contributor's name, campus address, and poem/story titles should appear on a separate sheet. Please limit submissions to three pieces. Direct all literary entries to Mr. Ken Chamlee, Assistant Professor of English, McLarty-Goodson 129.

Art contributions should be clearly identified by artist's name and work title, using an index card taped to the back of the work. All photographs, drawings, and prints should be properly matted or mounted and clear-wrapped for handling. Art submissions are limited to one per person. Direct all art entries to Miss Cheryl Harrison, Associate Professor of Art, in the Coltrane Art Building.

Deadline for all submissions is Friday, November 2. Final judging will be done by off-campus personnel. All material submitted will be considered for publication in the Chiaroscuro. Questions about the contest should be directed to Mr. Chamlee.

Dunson-Franks Plays Tubman

By Robin Harper

"Hats: A Tribute to Harriet Tubman" is the next Life & Culture event scheduled to take place at Brevard College.

Ms. Franks shares the dreams and courage of Harriet Tubman's life through a series of slides showing slave auctions, slave ships, and plantation life, along with reggae-type music.

Western Illinois University has stated that her "performance was realistic, thought-provoking, and moving."

Sandra Dunson Franks' performance will take place on October 9 at 8:15 p.m. in Dunham Auditorium.

PTK Inducts New Members

The Brevard College chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, an honor society for two-year colleges, held its fall induction ceremony on September 27.

The speaker for the inductions was Rev. Charles Teague and guests included Dr. Bob Glesener, Dr. Brad Coryell, and Peter E. Burger. Inductions were held in the Weaver Room.

Students inducted were: Jewell Brown, Robert Jenrette, Lynne Williams, Robin Williams, Kelly Johnston, Lew Dyer, Kuniko Oka, Pam Ligon, Anna Ingram, James Moten II, Christopher Morrow, and Gracie Welch.

BC Provides Medical Care

By Jill Avett

Brevard College provides several medical facilities and services for students. A dispensary as well as an insurance policy are available to all students.

According to Bob Hayes, Director of Financial Affairs, thirty dollars of the general fee goes toward operating the dispensary. Seventy dollars of the general fee pays for an insurance policy. This policy is provided by the Interstate Insurance Agency, Inc., in cooperation with Brevard Insurance Agency, Inc., and supplements medical fees. In addition, it provides coverage for accidents and hospital admittance.

The dispensary, run by Corrie Burdette, R.N., is located in room 208 of the Boshamer Gymnasium. Burdette is authorized to give treatment for minor illnesses and accidents. Medicine from the dispensary is free to students. She works from 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. Monday-Friday and makes
