

SNOW!

When the snows of January came, Brevard College students lost no time enjoying the white stuff even though classes went on pretty much as scheduled. Clockwise from left: Tracy McDuffie makes a snow angel, students trudge to class across a whitened campus, Mark Brom and Laura Cooper decorate a pipe-smoking BC snowman, the college nameplate on the main gate reflects the winter weather, the cross and evergreens make a serene winter snowscape, while (below) the antics of Ace Lebo and Shane Milling are anything but serene as the pair gets into the spirit of the weather by trading giant snowballs.

