Poets Corner

SOUTH

He was . . . milk and worn cotton.
Sitting scanty in white washed rooms that lay inside houses. Small boxes plopped in the midst of drought felt tobacco. With him the world was too ripe, and the Green loved to an almost Blue.
He washed in his tub-basin atmosphere.
Washing thru rippled dreams, with uneven blocks of cake soap.
Rinsing from the tired green waterhose.

He was skin lovely.
Basking beside his sweetwater.
And I crouched deep, sure to know
he could now sense me there.

THE OLD HOUSE

Webs overhead, over hung
The owner of the house has left for the day
Left for the day
Opposite sides beating in gusts
The strides pound and the chains break
Shrieks rebound through the vacant halls
These are the stories
I was told
When I was younger

Now I know that the house lives
The air unglulates through clear lungs
Like my thoughts through my head
I know the revelations of the wood
They prate of my where abouts
The echoes of my words are indeed, haunting
That's what I wanted
I was told
when I was younger

Library evaluating new computer system

from BC News Bureau

The computer age has come to the library.

Through Nov. 18, Brevard College's James Addison Jones Library is evaluating INFOTRAC II, a periodical index on laser disc which will significantly affect the way students do research for papers, case studies and exams, according to Director of the Library Mike McCabe.

The INFOTRAC Academic Index provides almost instant bibliographic references to 390 scholarly and general interest journals, plus the New York Times -- all on a single compact disc that can be accessed through a computer. The system is fast and easy to use, McCabe says.

The new system which is set up in the reference area of the library is one type of new technology the library is investigating for 1989-90, according to McCabe.

Ensemble sets Nov. 21 concert

from BC News Bureau

"If you can hit it, we can play it," says Director Diane Daniel of her BC Percussion Ensemble which will present a concert on Monday, Nov. 21, at 8:15 p.m. in Dunham Auditorium.

The group includes nine players, including Keith Tennent, Tom Giampietro, Rob Miller, Brian Wetsig, Rachel Welch, Robert Shaw, Eric Welborne, Darren Bays, and Robert Murray.

Instruments include marimbas, vibraphones, xylophones, orchestra bells, chimes, tympani, drum set, drums, tomtoms, cymbals and gongs.

Daniel says, "A percussion ensemble is just like any other ensemble - with the exception of their being no wind instruments; everything is a percussion instrument."

Daniel says some of the tunes to be played include "Time for Jazz," "Suite for Percussion," and "Three Asiatic Dances."

The concert will also feature something new to BC: a marimba band, according to Daniel.

Get those addresses right or else

The Brevard Postmaster Dale Edmonds has announced that if mail coming to BC students doesn't have "Brevard College" on the envelope, it will be "returned to sender," according to Bookstore and College post office manager Debbie Cantrell.

Cantrell advises that BC students notify friends and relatives to be sure to add "BC" to their mail.

The confusion arises because of the Brevard Post Office assumes box number to be boxes at the main post office in town, not that at BC, which in effect is a separate post office.

Jeff Angelo won first place and Lisa Henry won second in a contest held in October to design a bookmark for the library. Copies of the new bookmarks will be printed and distributed to students soon.
