

Taylor men laugh it up during their effort in the 'always-hilarious izzy-dizzy race.

Green and Jones win at this year's Derby Day

by Gary Weeks
Clarion Reporter

Every six months Brevard College holds its "Battle of the Dorms" known as Derby Day, and September 1 was no exception.

After President Greer tossed the derby, the competition was fierce until the final results were released, and Green Hall became men's champions and West Jones were the women's champs.

Participating in the events were members of each dorm, faculty, and commuters. The events included volleyball, musical buckets, hair sculpting, Jello-eating, three-legged sack race, izzy-dizzy and the tug-of-war. The next Derby Day is set for this spring.

Robin Wicker and Frederick "Bam-Bam" Scott take it to the net.

The hair-sculpting contest produces fantastic 'dos.

In the game of musical buckets, sometimes the dunkers get as wet as the "dunkees."