CLARION

by Katie Lobdell, staff writer

This photo was submitted by Will Ketcham. It is of a tunnel that was used by the Ancient Greeks in the Mediterranean area. A legend involving visions is associated with this tunnel, which I found to be very interesting. If anyone is interested, contact me and I can forward the information to you about the legend.

I chose this photo out of all that were submitted mainly because of the uniqueness of the subject. I felt it was something that all might enjoy seeing, but very few would have the opportunity to do so.

Thank you to all that submitted photos this month, and please continue to send me pictures.

Yours may be next!
Peace. Moose

The Brevard College theater department is growing in popularity! This is an exciting year to go see a play, as Dr. Robert White, Head of the Theater Department in the new Porter Center, can tell you.
