Pep Band

By Jennie Howell, staff reporter

The "Hey Song," "Tequila," "Louie Louie," "Wooly Bully," "Old Time Rock & Roll," which of these songs don't draw you to the flame? The Brevard College Pep Band coordinators, April Banks and Davis Whitfield-Cargile are very energetic about playing at the Basket Ball games to liven it up a bit. Although the Pep Band has not been as active as they had hoped this year, they debuted their talents at the double header Basketball women's and men's home game Saturday, December 6 as Brevard hosted Alice Lloyd College, conference team home games.

Davis Whitfield-Cargile, commenting on his participation in the Pep Band, concludes, "I've been a part of the Pep Band every year since I have been at Brevard. Each year, however, the Pep Band has seen many a change. My freshman year, Pep Band was offered as ensemble class for which you received .5 credit hours. We had a number of instruments which we could rent out to students who did not have an instrument. My sophomore year (this past academic year), the class was cut.

"Upon receiving this news, Coach Jones, Cam West, Greg Milton and I worked out a way in which students could get paid on a per game basis to play a minimum number of games. The group was open to everyone, whether current student or not, and we were pretty successful. However, this was much unorganized, whether current student or not, and we were pretty successful. However, this was much unorganized, whether current student or not, and we were pretty successful. However, this was much unorganized, unstructured, and a big hassle. I researched the way other schools compensated students for playing in the pep band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band, and saw that most schools either pay $50 per game, or provide a $500 scholarship to members per band.

The club is now an official club sponsored by the SGA. "This fall, I pursued the idea of creating an SGA sponsored club. The idea was well received by the SGA senate, and we now have an official SGA Club, known as sponsored club. The idea was well received by the SGA senate, and we now have something to contribute to the Brevard College Basketball Pep Band. This club is open to all students who have something to contribute to the club." Whitfield Carolle explains
