students. "The video was very amusing. Michael did a good job," said Ethan Smith.

In between the two videos, Camille Van Horn played the role of auctioneer in a date auction. The students auctioned off were Mike Cohen, Aleece Fosnight, Laura King, John Grimsley, Kris May-Richardson, and Anthony Hatcher. Mike Cohen was bought by Jamie Michaels for $25.00. Aleece Fosnight was bought by Dan Aulterman for $15.00. Laura King was bought by her boyfriend, Justin Blythes, for $100.00. John Grimsley was bought by Keeley Bollinges for $34.00. Kris May-Richardson was bought by Shomari Ramsay for $75.00. Anthony Hatcher was bought by Lindsay Sherrllio, Lara Garret, and Jennifer Epley for $29.00. Every couple was given a gift certificate to a local restaurant for a romantic dinner. Chris Hiatt said, "The date auction was pretty cool. I was surprised with the $100.00 purchase." Mike Cohen says, "It was one of the most humiliating experiences of my life. I felt like a piece of meat but we're not talking about Angus Beef here. We're talking about old pork chops."

When people arrived at the dance they had the option to donate money to United Children's Fund (UNICEF). If they donated money over $1.00 they received a raffle ticket. The raffle took place after the last video segment. SGA and CAB were raffling off three baskets filled mostly with candy but there were also dinner tickets and few extra odds and ends. The grand prize was two tickets to the Biltmore Estates. Kathy Dorner, Kody Kinsley, and Anthony Hatcher won the baskets and Robin Benitz won the Biltmore Estate tickets.

At 10:00pm the student dance started. At the end of the evening, SGA and CAB raised $581.00 for the United Children's Fund (UNICEF) and SGA said they will match and donate $581.00 to Communities in Schools of Transylvania County.
