Brevard College football program."

According to Collins, Poss will do well recruiting because Brevard's "location, residential environment, and academic quality will be attractive to high school seniors." Many of these seniors, according to Poss, will be local athletes.

"I am looking forward to recruiting in the Carolinas and especially western North Carolina," Poss said.

"Bobby Poss is the type of coach that young men will want to play for, and more than that, he is the type of man that parents will want their sons to play for," Collins said. "He has the technical knowledge, the coaching skills, the experience and the character that we were searching for. This is a great break for our developing program."

Poss holds an impressive 241-89-1 record (.730) after 28 years of coaching, and has received many honors, including being named 2002 and 1999 Western North Carolina Football Coach of the year; 2001 North Carolina Football Coach of the Year; 2000 South Region Football Coach of the Year; USA Today 1991 North Carolina Coach of the Year; and Associated Press 1989 North Carolina Football Coach of the Year.

"I have long thought that [Poss] would make a good collegiate coach," Collins said, "and am now pleased he is on our side."

Kings Creek construction ongoing

by Hunter Holmes

Over the past few months the construction that has been developing on King's Creek below the last bridge, near the Barn Theater and the maintenance building.

The creek was "re-winded" because a few years ago the creek was straightened to make room for campus construction. This straightening caused a problem with erosion along the banks. The creek was slowly cutting a wider bed and in turn cutting away at the property of home owners opposite the track field. Plans were made to "re-wind" the creek in the fall of 2005.

The construction portion of the restoration is done, but this does not mean the project is over. The creek's banks still have to be re-vegetated. Plans are to begin the bank restoration early in the spring of 2006. For now, the exposed soil is protected with a temporary grass cover.

When asked if the restoration was a success Dr. Kenneth Duke, Chair of the Division of Environmental Studies, said, "It is too early to determine if the restoration is reducing erosion because we have had only one hard rain since the October." The creek and streamside will be monitored closely over the next few years to see the long term effects of the project.
