

Security Report

Security reminds students to keep windows and doors shut and locked at all times due to questionable people reported on campus. Also with the new gas station and car wash, this danger may increase.

Incidentally, there have been no further reports on the unidentified person in the Village. Hopefully, he has moved on.

A book bag was reported stolen from the sidewalk at the N. Village with books and a cell phone on Feb 16. All were recovered a few doors away. The police were not involved, and the matter will remain pending until the perpetrator is identified.

Last Friday night (2/24/06) at 11:00 PM that a white male wearing a black ski mask and hooded sweat jacket was seen exposing himself in the area of the North Village Pavilion. Security and the Brevard Police Department responded immediately. However, the caller gave a South Village location, so the Officer on Duty and the police initially went to the wrong location. A few minutes later an individual fitting this same general description was seen walking toward the Ingles pathway.

Therefore, if you see anyone acting in a suspicious or bizarre manner, please do not approach the individual yourself, but immediately contact Campus Security at 884-5979 and the Brevard Police Department at 911. Please be sure to give your correct location, and remain available to security and the police so you can provide them an accurate description the offender.

Fall graduates

Sophia Yugay,
Bachelor of Arts – Business
& Organizational Leadership and Music

Summa Cum Laude
NORTH CAROLINA CONT'D
Hendersonville

Hart Elizabeth Chandler,
Bachelor of Arts – Wilderness Leadership & Experiential
Education

Cum Laude
William David Evans,
Bachelor of Arts – Integrated Studies

Kristy Gregory Knott,
Bachelor of Arts – English
Magna Cum Laude
Louisburg

David Robinson Straw V,
Bachelor of Arts – Wilderness Leadership & Experiential
Education.

Raleigh
Timothy Dewayne Reese,
Associate in Arts Degree
Winston-Salem

Stanley Kirk Bjorling, Jr.,
Bachelor of Arts – Wilder-
ness Leadership & Experiential
Education

OHIO
Youngstown
Leah Hope Menzies,
Bachelor of Science – Ecology

Cum Laude, Honors Program Graduate
SOUTH CAROLINA
Beaufort

William Benton Santee
Lutz,
Bachelor of Arts – English
Charleston

Elizabeth Howe Ravenel,
Bachelor of Arts – Wilder-

House convenes emergency meeting

by Christina Davis
Staff Writer

Club and organization officials convened on Feb. 14 to discuss and vote on financial issues.

The two pressing situations that called for the Emergency/Mandatory meeting were Tri Beta's, the Biology Honors Society, miscalculation of the amount of money needed for the Tri Beta convention in Gatlinburg, TN later this semester, and Brevard Environmental Educator's (BEE) re-emergence as a campus club, a situation that required a shift in club funds before approval.

Tri Beta is especially excited about this year's conference. There, senior Heather Hinkle will be have the opportunity to present her research and findings in the field of drug resistant bacteria. This is a prestigious chance to exhibit Hinkle's personal accomplishments and Brevard's exceptional Biology Department.

Tri Beta initially thought the funds needed to facilitate this trip were well within their budget. However, school vans were in high demand and had not yet been designated for the trip, forcing the club to charter. The convention will be attended by six Brevard students and two faculty members. The club was granted an additional $500.

BEE was inactive last semester and was therefore forced to re-establish itself as a club financially. The big event that BEE is largely responsible for is Earth Week, which takes place in late April. Modeling last year's operating cost they asked the compiled panel for $1,000 to cover the week's expenses. The money will cover live music, tie-dye booths, food, workshops, trees to plant, as well as a required certification under North Carolina environmental affiliates. Aside from Earth Week, BEE will use the money to create a "BEE Library" which will be an assortment of environmental education resources available to Brevard students.

With both issues passing, the clubs should be able to accomplish their sets goals.

ness Leadership & Experiential
Education

MASSACHUSETTS
Marlborough
Daniel Scott Alterman,
Bachelor of Arts – Music
Orange
Hannah Alice Kent,
Bachelor of Arts – Religious

Studies
Cum Laude
MICHIGAN
Muskegon

Ellen Margaret Cummins,
Bachelor of Arts – Integrated Studies
Magna Cum Laude
VIRGINIA

Assawoman
Robert Paul Chesser,
Bachelor of Arts – Wilder-
ness Leadership & Experiential
Education

Magna Cum Laude

Discussion

continued from page 1

student population by about 100 new incoming students next fall. Additionally, there will be one new English professor, a new math professor, a jazz director, and a criminal justice program, which will replace the current integrated studies program.