

American Hero

Many people choose to show their support of their favorite candidates in ways that after the election do not continue to affect their day-to-day life. But it is those who make a lifetime commitment to their candidate who are true American Heroes. This is why we honor Mark Ciptak of Elizabethton, Tennessee. This week, Ciptak chose to name his daughter Sarah McCain Palin, circumventing his wife to do so. Republicans focus on family values as a key election issue, and what shows your family values more than incorporating the candidates into your family. There has been no word so far, however, on whether the Ciptak's insurance paid for the medical bills of delivering the baby.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

If you're like us, you spend countless hours watching reruns of "Miami Vice" and "Nash Bridges" wondering "what ever happened to Don Johnson?", and how could such an incredible actor have completely fallen off the map?" Well now you know, as he has apparently taken a higher calling. Instead of fighting vice in the streets of Miami, now he fights it in the pews of Rosman. And we're sure he still wears his trademark superfly suit in the pulpit.
