

Homecoming

Photos by Marc Newton

(Top left) Students get wet, wild, and possibly infected with various diseases at the Brevard College Homecoming foam dance. (Middle Left) Coach Paul Hamilton yells instructions to his team (Our guess: "Run the option") during Saturday's Homecoming football game. (Bottom Left) Homecoming King Brice Warner and Homecoming Queen Courtney Sofferin pose together. (Top Middle) The Brevard High School Marching Band performs during halftime (Center) Reigning Homecoming Queen Kimberlee Cooper passes on her crown to Courtney Sofferin (Top Right) A pirate and a gorilla make an appearance at the Homecoming volleyball match (Middle Right) The underclassmen Homecoming Court poses at midfield.

Tornados clawed by Eagles on Homecoming

by Johnny 'Stats' Lange Sports editor

After dropping their homecoming contest, the Brevard College football team hits the road for a final time this weekend. The Tornados will be travelling to Catawba College to take on the Indians this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Salisbury, North Carolina.

Last weekend the Tornados welcomed the #16 team in the nation, Carson-Newman, to Memorial Stadium and played them real tight for the first half. With the score 14-3 B.C. gambled on a 4th and goal from the two yard line, but were not able to convert and Carson Newman ran out the clock on the first half. In the second half the Eagles were able to

to 1-7 on the year (0-6 in the SAC)

Senior running back John Taylor has continued to work his way back for injury, rushed for 93 yards on 11 carries on the day against the Eagles. Junior linebacker Stanley Jones recorded 18 tackles over the afternoon and leads the SAC with 84 tackles on the season.

photo by M. Newton

run off 20 unanswered points to win the game 34-3. With the loss the Tornados fall

2 p.m. at Memorial Stadium and will be Senior Day for the 7 seniors on the team.