Career planning should start now

by Radosav 'Backo' Babic

"I'm still not sure what I am going to do after I graduate from Brevard," is often heard by Brevard College students, and many other students across the country. Trying to figure out one's own interest is often harder than it seems to be. That is the reason why many students change their major during undergraduate studies. They go from business, to history, back to business, then to education, and finally, somehow, they find themselves in a completely different department.

By the time they become seniors, there are still doubts in their heads about what the next 'task' should be. Job? If so, what kind of job? Graduate school? If so, where and what?

For those of you who still have doubts about what it is you should do with the rest of your life, career wise, and are still not sure what you really like, here is the list of Top 25 Jobs in America and Top 25 Best Jobs for College Graduates.

Techno party gets rave reviews

Scores of students showed up at Myers Dining Hall Saturday night for CAB's Techno Dance Party. One highlight of the evening was a dance-off between two students. The other highlight was DJ Backo's shirt.
