American Hero

Many people may remember the old Disney movie, All Dogs Go To Heaven, but did you know that that title isn't entirely factual? In fact, only dogs who have accepted Jesus Christ as their personal Lord and Savior get to go to heaven. Finally, someone else realized this as well, and they intend to do something about it. Reverend Tom Eggebeen of Covenant Presbyterian Church in Los Angeles has begun converting dogs to Christianity, and ensuring that they will fulfill Walt Disney's prophecy. At his church, he has begun to offer weekly services which include hymns incorporating the dogs, prayers for dogs, and special doggie treats. It is still unclear whether any other religions have taken to converting their pets and saving their immortal souls. So, for literally putting the dog in religious dogma, we salute you, Rev. Tom Eggebeen, of Covenant Presbyterian Church!
