

Horoscopes

Taken from the missing eleventh through fifteenth Commandments

Aries- Your brush with swine flu will lead you to try any means necessary to get better. Upon indulging in your roommate's mystery bag of pills you will take a psychedelic journey which will not in any way affect your flu symptoms.

Lucky color- ROYGBIV

Taurus- Just because you aren't good at basketball doesn't mean you are good at drama. Boo Duke!

Unlucky color- Duke jersey

Gemini- Next time your BAC surpasses your IQ, try to avoid attacking inanimate objects.

Lucky color- Vomit

Cancer- Your name will become an adverb which will make you infamous among certain social groups. Not in a good way.

Lucky color- Blush

Leo- Your attempt at outing Barack Obama will be wrongly perceived when you misuse the term Scandal's as a place as opposed to an occurrence.

Lucky color- Grayish

Virgo- You will engage in work described as back-breaking in hopes of advancement. Unfortunately, this work is literally back breaking, and leads to nothing but years of chiropractor bills.

Lucky color- Future outlook bleak

Libra- The stars foresee a learning experience in your future relating to the phrase, "Anger is nothing more than fear in disguise." However, why you will fear candy machines stealing your dollar is up to you to work out.

Lucky color- Greenback

Scorpio- The stars computer crashed and can't see into your future this week

Lucky color- Black Screen

Sagittarius- Life will imitate art this week when your Xbox shuts off in the middle of a game of NBA Live., causing you to decide to play basketball outside and get knocked out attempting a 360 dunk.

Lucky color- Blue-red

Capricorn- That isn't what your mom said last night!

Lucky color- Your FACE!

Aquarius- Contrary to what MC Hammer says, you can touch this.

Lucky color- Gilded gates

Pisces- Misunderestimate everyone.

Lucky Color- Blackish whitish purple

American Hero

Sometimes people are forced to eat their words, although this is rarely a literal statement. This week's American Hero, however, took this statement literally. On the eve of the NBA draft in 2007, Chicago Tribune columnist Rick Morrissey wrote a column on the Bulls' draft selection in which he is highly critical of the selection of Joakim Noah. Morrissey said that Noah "could not play. He was soft, had the shooting form of a fourth-grader and simply didn't have game." Morrissey was so sure of this that he offered to eat his column- with salsa- if Joakim Noah could become a useful NBA player within three years. Now averaging a double-double and having recently set career highs in points scored and rebounds in separate games, Noah seems to have proved Morrissey wrong. So, on Monday, November 9, Morrissey showed up to Bulls practice and sprinkled some hot salsa on a copy of his column from that draft night, and literally ate his words. For being accountable and keeping to his word, we salute Rick Morrissey of the Chicago Tribune. To see the video, go to <http://www.chicagotribune.com/sports/basketball/bulls/chi-11-morrissey-bulls-nov11,0,7213960.column?page=1>.