

Horoscopes

As dictated to Joseph Smith in the backwoods of Utah.

Aries- Next time someone doubts your ability to do something and you fail to do that thing, blame it on that person for not supporting you. It really makes you feel a whole lot better.

Lucky color- De-river De-Nial

Taurus- You will overtake Jon Gruden on the list of potential Notre Dame football coaches. This is mainly because, no matter who you are, you are less of an asshole than he is.

Lucky Color- Blue and gold

Gemini- Video games are a hobby, not an occupation.

Lucky color- Pasty

Cancer- Daytime Television. Need

we say more?

Lucky color- Seizure

Leo- Do not take the recommendation to stop drinking literally

Lucky color- Agua

Virgo- Getting on that Patron will not guarantee that you will get like Yung Joc

Lucky color- Bling

Libra- Test your coolness factor out. Start wearing floaties in King's Creek. See if anyone else joins

Lucky color- Blow up yellow ducks

Scorpio- Your New Year's Eve plans will lead you to the love of your life, too bad you will have no recollection of meeting them on New Year's Day when you wake up.

Lucky color- Rainbow-out (Ten times worse than a blackout)

Sagittarius- Making fun of Lindsay

Lohan has become so trendy even she's getting in on it.

Lucky color- Trailer Trash

Capricorn-When full-time surfer bums begin unraveling the theory of the universe maybe that means that the universe itself is unraveling.

Lucky color- Mind-blowing explosion

Aquarius- You will listen to Alanis Morissette in an attempt to finally comprehend the complexities of irony. You will fail miserably, don'tcha think? No. We know. We know.

Lucky color- Fuji Yama's revenge

Pisces- You will be forced to drink with the lead singer of The Strokes. This may sound enticing but beware the 2-year hangover which will surely ensue.

Lucky Color- Lightning bolt headache

American Hero

Social networking has permeated every facet of American life. This is best exemplified by this week's American Heros, Dana Hanna and Tracy Page. While on the altar in the process of getting married, Dana and Tracy chose to stop the wedding procedure right after vows were exchanged, before the kiss, so that they could update their relationship status on Facebook and Twitter that they had tied the knot. We at the Clarion wonder what is next? Will there be a pause graveside before the moment of silence at a funeral to deactivate someone's facebook? "And now we truly do commit this person's memory to the grave as we deactivate their Facebook account. Oh wait- how do I sign in...is this capitalized?" For taking their commitment to their social networking site as seriously as their commitment to one another, we at the Clarion salute Dana Hanna and Tracy Page, this week's American Heroes. May all their friends comment positively on their relationship status change, and may Facebook always show that the two are, in fact, an item.