

Comic by Karam Boeshaar

DAX AND KEVIN - Time Flies

American Hero

Sometimes a savior will come in the most unlikely of places. Some people may find it in a church, others on the face of a calf. In Connecticut, a calf was born on a dairy farm with a special marking on its forehead. According to the owner of the calf, he was checking on the animal only to notice that he had a marking in the shape of a white cross on its forehead. This calf, named Moses, may be a sign of the end-times of our oppression of cows, nurturing them solely for the purpose of eating them or drinking their milk. The owner saw it another way, however. Dairy farmer, Brad Davis saw it as divine intervention into the dairy market so as to raise prices on milk and increase his business. So maybe in his eyes, this calf is less of a prophet from God and will instead be more of a way for him to profit from God. Either way, this was one of many divine interventions which this season has brought us. One other notable occurrence was found on the door of an Ikea store bathroom. One patron noticed a familiar face in the wood, that of Jesus. "I was only heading to the toilet and found God. My wife thought he looked like Gandalf from 'Lord of the Rings,' but it is definitely more like the Turin Shroud." We at the Clarion see the beauty in these 'miracles' and want to salute this week's American Hero: American God. Whether American God sends his prophets (profits?) in the form of a calf, on the wall of a furniture store bathroom, or on a piece of toast, we are reminded that he works in mysterious ways.

The Clarion

Senior Staff

Editor in Chief:	Travis Wireback	Managing Editor:	John Climer
News Editor:	Thomas Lide	Copy Editor:	Open
Business Editor:	Open	Layout & Design:	Travis Wireback
Opinion Editor:	Open	Photo Editor:	Marc Newton
Arts & Life Editor:	Will Byers	Business Manager:	Emily Clark
Sports Editor:	Richard Bush	Faculty Advisor:	John B. Padgett

Other Staff

Karam Boeshaar
Dabney Farmer
Katherine McKittrick

Anne Bolos
Dimitri McCloghry
Alex Benoit

Unsigned editorials represent the collective opinion of the staff of The Clarion. Other opinions expressed on this page are those of respective authors and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the faculty, staff or administration of Brevard College.

Letters Policy

The Clarion welcomes letters to the editor. We reserve the right to edit letters for length and content. All letters intended for publication must be signed.

All correspondence should be mailed to:

The Clarion, Brevard College, One Brevard College Drive, Brevard, NC 28712