This past Friday, April 9, nine senior art majors presented their senior art exhibition. The senior art exhibition contains a body of work created within the past semester using the skills and the knowledge gained during their tenure at Brevard College.

Seniors Brook Seaman, Maranda Ashe, Marc Newton, Donna Hooper, Shaton Pratt, Rachael Montgomery, Andrew Davis, Laura Bar, and Jennifer Gift, all successfully brought in a crowd of over 200 people. The array of different art including graphic design, painting, photography, and sculpture showcased each artist's unique talents and the hard work which they invested in their work.

The show will be open for the rest of the month and is definitely worth a look.

Want to know how you can get involved on the local political level? Interested in what volunteer opportunities might be available during this election year? Then come join the Debate Society/Young Politician's Association for our open forum on Thursday, April 22nd, 2010 at 8 pm in the Reserve Dining Hall. Both Republican Party Chair Jim Meyer and Ambassador Peter Chaveas for the Transylvania Democratic Party will be on hand to speak with students and take questions in regards to how to get involved on the local level with your preferred party. This will NOT be a policy or platform debate between parties, and we ask that students act accordingly. Refreshments and snacks will be served.
