

Transylvania to host Halloweenfest

By Danielle Burch

Music competitions, costume parades, face painting, bake-offs, cookies, scarecrows and... blood. Halloween can never go unnoticed in Transylvania County, akin to the legendary home of Count Dracula.

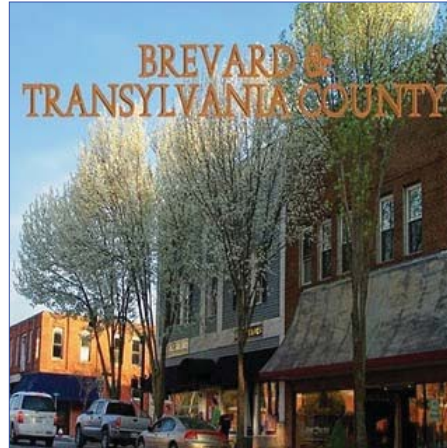

On Oct. 30, Transylvania County will continue the 28-year tradition of Halloweenfest in the Heart of Brevard. The festival begins at 10 a.m. at The Proper Pot in downtown Brevard. Guests and ghouls can choose from a variety of spooks to celebrate the festivities.

In addition to these events, the Rotary Club of Brevard will host the Annual Flight of the Vampire 5K Competitive Race/Walk. The race begins at 5 p.m. on South Broad Street. Registration is at 2 p.m. and adults cost $30.

Other Halloween events in Transylvania County include a "Shock in the Corn" haunted maze at the Blue Ridge Corn Maze, and spooky storytelling at the Transylvania County Library Amphitheatre.

CAB Board is also hosting a Halloween Dance in the Reserve Dining Hall on Oct. 30.
