

Wartime Crossword Redux

Print an impossible crossword puzzle once, shame on us. Print an impossible crossword puzzle twice, you must have three worthless editors.

DOWN

- 1. You probably heard we ain't in the prisoner-takin' business; we in the killin' Nazi business. And cousin, business is a-boomin
- 3. He was standing outside talking. I heard something I wasn't supposed to, and he knew I listened to his conversation. I heard them say something in Spanish: Bahia de Cochinos.
- 4. Two misguided youths join the Army reserves, water purification unit, to make some money for their entrepreneurial dreams and find themselves fighting in Chad.
- 6. I hate Vietnam. There's not one horse in this whole country. There's not one horse in Vietnam. There's somethin' basically wrong with that.
- 7. What do you mean, "you people?"
- 8. The true events of November, 1965, the Ia Drang Valley of Vietnam, a place our country does not remember, in a war it does not understand.
- 9. His name is Vassilij Zaitzev. Armed only with a rifle, he quickly made the fascist invader realize that from now on he would be punished for every step he took in the motherland.

- 11. Densel Washington leads the US Civil War's first all-black volunteer program
- 12. Aim small, miss small.

ACROSS

- 2. It was a bullet, wasn't it? That jumped up and bit your buttocks?
- 5. Now I want you to remember that no bastard ever won a war by dying for his country. He won it by making the other poor dumb bastard die for his country.
- 10. This time the mission is the man. He better be worth it. He better go home and cure a disease, or invent a longer-lasting light bulb.
- 13. I fear all we have done is to awaken a sleeping giant.

Last week's puzzle

It has come to the attention of the Clarion editors that last week's crossword was, in a word, impossible.

We apologize to all readers for this mistake. After a round of self flagellation, followed by heavy drinking, the editors have reconciled the blunder.

We have produced for you a puzzle featuring the same clues from last week's edition, with a grid to match.

The editors have considered creating a puzzle that features something other than movies as the overarching theme. We can assure the reader, however, that "Forrest Gump" will appear in every puzzle, in some form.