MARCH 13-19 GAY AWARENESS WEEK PLANNED

The first-ever CGA-sponsored Gay Awareness Week follows:

- a recent "Daily Tar Heel" survey showing that "almost 58 percent of the 398 (UNC) students polled said they preferred that the Campus Governing Council not allocate money to CGA activities."
- letters-to-the-editor exchanges between students "nauseated" at the mere thought of that 'queer' society" and students who came the CGA's defense.
- defacement of the "cube" announcement of Gay Awareness Week with the words "SODOMY IS A FELONY IN N.C....ARREST FAGGOTS."

GAY AWARENESS WEEK SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Attendance by the general public is welcome at all events.

THE REV. THOMAS S. BIGELOW, coordinator for the South Atlantic district of the Metropolitan Community Church, told the "News and Observer" recently that the conflict between being gay and being Christian is an especially big problem in the South. "Scripturally God is never against people loving each other, just against people using each other," Bigelow said.

- 4:00 pm- Sexuality and the Law: Legal Implications of Being Gay, with Dorothy Bernholz (Student Legal Services) and Barry Makell (School of Law) (217 Union)

BARRY MAKELL, who will help argue in May that the North Carolina cohabitation statute is unconstitutional, believes the decision of the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals "could eventually affect the rights of gays." He will explain why March 15.
