College: Community Of Scholars

DR. CECIL ROBBINS

Today college is many things to many people. For some, college is primarily a battlefield for radical and revolutionary change.

A small minority tries to make it the chief exponent of the "so-called" new morality. This group wants freer sex, a freer flow of beer and booze and a wider acceptance of psychedelic drugs.

Another small minority attempts to make college the central headquarters for social reform. This group is caught up in a wide variety of causes--the draft, the war in Vietnam, poverty, racial injustice, abuses of capitalism and other evils in the social order. Some spend more time crusading against the evils in society than they do on all of their class work.

Still another small group seeks to make the college a center of radical educational change. It wants to completely overhaul the curriculum, to get the college more directly involved in community needs and to have a commanding voice in policy and policy-making processes.

You have been hearing a great deal from these vociferous minorities on some campuses in our nation.

But there is another group--and I believe this group constitutes the overwhelming majority--who view the college in a much broader perspective. They think of the college primarily as a community of scholars.

Now they are not satisfied with the status quo either on the campus or in society. Rules must be changed, brought up to date. They, too, see clearly the glaring evils in society. They discern the weaknesses, the irrelevance and the out-of-dateness of much in our educational system.

But they do not lash out with disruptive or violent acts. They do not beat a retreat into some fantastic hippie world. They don't just sit back and curse the Establishment.

They seek the truth. They delve into all the facts. They discipline the mind through study, through a deep commitment to learning.

They, too, seek reform, human betterment, social progress, through reasoned orderly processes.

College does not belong to the angry, irresponsible, minority who foment strife and division.

College belongs to the community of scholars--the thinking, dedicated faculty and students engaged in the highest mission on earth--to understand the past and to explore new realms of discovery and truth that excite and challenge our best.

The community of scholars are the real reformers, the builders of better colleges and a better society.

I invite every student at Louisburg College this academic year to become an active member of this distinguished company--the community of scholars.

HOME COMING '69

Johnnie Ainsley

The Annual Homecoming at Louisburg College will be held on Saturday, November 22, preceded by the Winter Dance on Friday night, from 8 p.m. to midnight. The Homecoming events will begin at 7:45 p.m. in the Gymnasium when the Louisburg Hurricanes face Southwood.

After the ballgame, at 9:30, everyone is invited, free of charge, to enjoy a pop concert featuring the great Josh White, Jr. of New York City. This will be Mr. White's second performance at Louisburg College and will highlight the Homecoming events. Mr. White's concert is being sponsored jointly by the Alumni Office and the Inter-Club Council.

The Winter Dance will be held in the cafeteria instead of the Gymnasium because the physical education department has recently had the gym floor refinished.

Due to contract stipulations that require a balanced acoustical system, the pop concert will be held in the auditorium. The gymnasium does not qualify.

The Kallabash from Greensboro, starring Ken Helsler, will perform at the Friday night Winter Dance. This event is sponsored by the sophomore class.

The students of the college will be given an opportunity to express their creativity prior to Homecoming. Each dormitory floor will erect a scene on the campus grounds pertaining to Homecoming. The scene chosen as being "Most Original" will win for its dormitory residents a free steak dinner, courtesy of the Alumni Office.

Tickets for the Homecoming basketball game will be on sale Saturday, November 22, from 1 to 5 p.m. in the Alumni Office in Main lobby. Non-students are urged to buy tickets early so as to avoid the last-minute rush. Louisburg College students will be admitted free, upon presentation of their I.D. cards.

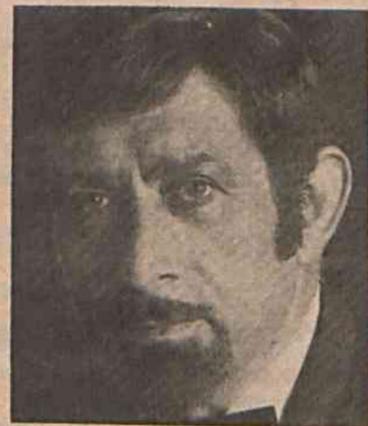

A buffet dinner will be served on Saturday afternoon in the cafeteria. All students will be admitted free. The hour for the dinner will be announced later.

OCTOBER 11 Parents' Day

Nancy Filer

Parents' Day, takes place on Saturday, October 11, 1969. It is Louisburg College's way of welcoming the parents to our college community.

Parents will begin arriving in the morning for a formal pro-shows with Johnny Carson, Steve Allen, David Susskind as well as in leading supper clubs, resorts, and hotels. All types of men and women's clubs, charitable organizations, and every conceivable type of educational and social gatherings.

Mr. Kolisch's friendly and authoritative manner immediately gained and held the interest of the Louisburg audience. One of the most delightful and entertaining features of his program was audience participation in practical demonstrations of hypnosis, mass-hypnosis, post-hypnotic suggestions, feats of extra-sensory perception and mentalism.

Mr. Kolisch is a certified member of the American Institute of Hypnosis and an active member of the Associa-

John Kolisch, world renowned hypnotist-mental-entertainer has been the talk throughout the Louisburg campus since his appearance on September 9, 1969. From 8 P.M. until 11:45 P.M. Mr. Kolisch entertained, enlightened, and fascinated his entire audience.

Vienna-born John Kolisch became interested in the psychophenomena of hypnosis and E. S. P. while a student at the University of Vienna. Today he is one of the world's outstanding authorities in the field, with over twenty-five years of experience as a lecturer, entertainer, and consultant.

Mr. Kolisch has had great success before a wide variety of audiences. He has appeared on countless radio and television tion to Advance Ethical Hypnosis. With a background of studies in psycho-dynamics, psychocybernetics and human behavior, he has assisted physicians in treatment of psychosomatic ailments and aided dentists in induction of hypnotic procedures to facilitate painless dental work.

How to Better Yourself Through Hypnosis and Lessons in Dynamic Auto-Conditioning were authored by Mr. Kolisch.

With such a wide background in many fields, Mr. Kolisch presented a warm and friendly program treating all participants with the utmost respect. This unusual experience will long be remembered by the people who witnessed it.
