

Ten reasons why you should attend The Dating Game (or feel bad that you missed it)...

1. It's inexpensive, particularly for dues-paying members of the BSM. General admission is $1.25 in advance and $1.50 at the door. For those lucky individuals who've paid their dues admission is a very reasonable $1.00.

2. It's a chance for those folks who are wondering who the candidates for Miss BSM 1978-79 to find out. Those lovely contestants will be presented to the audience at intermission.

3. It's also a chance to be chosen as a participant in The Dating Game. Contestants will be selected by a lottery. Anyone can sign up for potential spots as eligible bachelors or bachelorettes at our table distribution tables in the Union.

4. There'll be some on-campus and off-campus celebrities peppering the contestant ranks as well. Imagine a date with Miss Black North Carolina. She'll be there.

5. Like to dance? Well, we'll satisfy that need, too. From 9:30 to 1 a.m., following the Dating Game itself, we cordially invite you to stay for a Thursday night disco.

6. Want something different? Parties are fine, but we'd like to offer you a social affair which deviates from the humid, crowded weekend jams which are so prevalent this time of year. Great Hall is spacious and air conditioned. What's more we'll decorate it a little here and there to add an extra mood and atmosphere.

7. In a day of inflation (even bus passes and cafeteria meals can be a pain nowadays) you can rest assured that the proceeds of The Dating Game will be well-spent. They'll go toward paying the outstanding BSM loan and a pool of revenue for future social and cultural activities such as the Coronation Ball on October 6 and the Fall Talent Show on December 7.

8. Ever get thirsty at parties? We'll be serving punch (for a very minimal charge).

9. If you don't meet your dream date in The Dating Game itself, you might just meet him or her at the dance. And even if you aren't struck by Cupid, you'll still have an opportunity to meet scads of interesting people, both undergrad and grad.

10. And last but not least, everyone who participates in The Dating Game will receive prizes whether they win or lose. Couples will win nights on the town courtesy of the BSM, with an especially extravagant surprise waiting for "The Dream Date" couple.
