Black Ink February 18, 1991

Multicultural Education Benefits Eveyone

"If black students want a Black Cultural Center, they should go to a black school." "Black students are oversensitive about racism, people aren't always being racist." "Black students need a Black Cultural Center, let them raise the money. It's not for me, why should I help?" "Multicultural education is not needed, this is America. We need to learns about Americans"

We have all heard these and numerous other arguments against having a Black Cultural Center and attempting to move UNC towards a more multicultural community. Yes, African-American students do need a BCC. We do need classes that inform us about the accomplishments of our people and make us know that we have come from a long line of survivors and fighters.

But more than black students need multicultural education, UNC needs multicultural education. It should be embarrassing to the university to know that an English major can graduate from UNC and be very close to completely ignorant about African-American literature. Students in all majors need to know about the contributions of all Americans, not just white men.

Aside from adding academic validity to a UNC degree, a multicultural education could help educate the entire campus about people other than themselves. With all the racial tension and hatred that can be felt on this university on any given day, it is apparent that we need to learn how to live with other people. And even if one is not interested in learning to live and communicate with other people for the sake of peace, maybe he or she will for the sake of his or her future job. As the work force becomes more and more diversified, the ability to communicate with all people will be as important as your degree.

In this issue of Black Ink, Debbie Baker explores the movement toward a multicultural education and the implications this would have at UNC. Enjoy the Ink and have a good week. —Peace, Erika F. Campbell and Akinwole N'Gai Wright.

Black Ink

"The essence of freedom is understanding"

Editors-in-Chief

Erika F. Campbell, Akinwole N'Gai Wright

Assistant Editors: Debbie Baker, Tim Little Business Manager: Andre Tippens

Staff: James Benton, Chris Brown, Corey Brown, Lem Butler, Teresa Jefferson, Roger Madison, Chandra McLean, Terrence Garrison, Anthony Peay, Daniel Peddle, Myron B. Pitts, Tonika Tillman Calendar Coordinator: Raquel Bushnell

Contributors: Michael Bowden, Pete Corson, Nevaina Graves, Pete Holthausen, Scott Peeler, Christy Pons, Charles Streeter, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority/Kappa Omicron chapter

Inside Black Ink

Monday, February 18, 1991

----Cover Story----

Some universities have also decided to incorporate a minority view into their curricula because too many are taught from a Eurocentric perspective. Multiculturalism has become a standard across the country as colleges attempt to address the needs of its increasingly diverse student population.

-- Multiculturalism -- The Need To Diversify Curricula..... Pages 6-7

----Current Events----

Now that fraternity and sorority Great Hall parties are strictly limited in number, African-Americans on UNC's campus have few places to go in the surrounding area where they can congregate and enjoy the company of their peers in a setting other than one that is academic or residential.

--Club Vogue Productions......Page 3

----Forum----

The newly elected RHA Co-Presidents and Streeter both agreed to address the African American community here, in Forum.

-- Response To Questionable RHA Endorsement...... Page 4

----Feature----

According to a 1989 report issued by the Orange County Human Rights Commission, assault is the most frequent crime in this country. A woman is battered every 18 seconds.

--Battered Women......Page 5

----People, Arts and Entertainment----

-- Sweet Honey In The Rock

Point After	Touchdown	Pages 8	}- 9)
-------------	-----------	---------	-------------	---

----Commentary----

Class opinion spoke of the University Library as a worthy gift recipient, and research found the class' desire to be firmly founded and feasible.

--On The 1991 Senior Class Gift......Page 10

----Endsights----

-- Fight To Overcome

-- A Tribute To Little Known African-Americans...... Page 11

About the Cover

Cover Story graphics by Pete Corson

Black Inst. founded in 1969, is the weekly newspaper of the Black Student Movement at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. It is published Mondays during the academic year and does not discriminate on the basis of sex, sexual orientation, religion, race, ethinc origin or handicap. All manuscripts, letters, photos, illustrations and other materials submitted are welcome and must be signed. The Black Inst office is located in Suite 108-D of the Student Union. Mailing address, CB# 5210 Student Union, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, NC 27514. Phone, 933-4336. One year subsciption in U.S. and possessions $20.00. Single copy, $1.00 (Make checks payable to Black Inst). Any annoucement or advertisement to be printed must be submitted the Wednesday before any publication date. Black Inst is published completely by university students on the SCAPEGOAT desktop publishing system and printed by Village Printing Company.