

Editor's Quill

Greetings!!

Welcome to the February issue of The Black Ink. This February has definitely been a month of historical events. As many of you may be aware, the Student Body President election of '98 will produce a woman for only the second time in UNC History. Not only that, but for the first time in UNC History, a Black woman is running and she has made it to the run-offs. If you don't know much about Reyna Walters, flip to page 8 and read all about her historic election bid.

I also encourage all of you to go out and vote on February 17th. Don't depend on others to make the choice for you, because who they elect may not necessarily be the one who has your best interest at heart. Your vote does make a difference

Love and peace forever,
Courtney M. Rogers
