The University of North Carolina

What is Annual Giving?

There are many areas that greatly distinguish a single key factor. A strong organized administration, and inquisitiveness are the key to the university equation of greatness.

Annual Giving is fundamental to the success of the UNCW community, it is not a luxury. Annual Giving and why is it so vital to UNCW? It is the lifeblood of resource development, defined the terms of our programs, faculty, and students through the years.

Lipman said that, "Annual Giving is the lifeblood of the university. Without it, the university cannot excel without it." The university cannot excel without it.

For many colleges and universities, annual giving is the lifeblood that keeps them from withering and die. UNCW is fortunate that we have one of the least expensive tuitions in the country. There is a false sense of support built up by alumni, parents, and friends believe that we can be supported without your Annual Giving.

When you receive your Annual Giving statement, remember your years at UNCW and your gift.
