

Reception For New Faculty

The new members of the faculty were honored October 26 at a reception given in the living room of Curtis-Huggins hall.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Jennie Smith, history professor, and I. T. Jones, jr., president of the sophomore class, who presented them to Miss Dorothy Smith, director of physical education. Miss Smith introduced guests to the line composed of president and Mrs. Fritip Lovin Elliott, Dean C. H. Sullivan, Miss Frances Cuthbertson, dean of women; W. Lawson Allen, director of church-school relations, and Mrs. Allen; Mr. and Mrs. James Harris, the latter dietitian and home economics instructor; Miss Betsy Jane Fuller, voice instructor; and Holt McPherson, professor of journalism.

The Rev. J. L. Jenkins and Mrs. Jenkins directed guests to the adjoining room where refreshments were served. The table, overlaid with a handsome Madeira and lace cutwork cloth, held as a centerpiece an arrangement of lovely red roses in a crystal bowl. Tall white taper in crystal candelabra graced either end of the table. Mrs. Hubert C. Dixon and Mrs. F. T. Johnson presided at the punch bowl, and fruit punch, cake, and ice cream were served by Miss Lila Watkins, and Miss Elma Harper.

Receiving in the music room were Miss Carolyn Wray and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lovelace. Sam Green, jr., baritone, and Miss Abbie Miller, pianist, rendered a musical program throughout the evening.

The Rev. W. W. Davidson and Mrs. Davidson said good-byes.

MR. C. H. SULLIVAN
Mr. Charles Holmes Sullivan is the new Dean of Instruction, and also teaches mathematics and physics. Mr. Sullivan came here from the faculty of Mars Hill College, where he taught math and physics. He is a native of South Carolina, and was graduated from Furman University. He took a graduate degree in educational statistics at Meyer, and is well-fitted for his work at Gardner-Webb. Mr. Sullivan lives in the faculty apartments on the campus with his wife and child.

MISS BETSY JANE FULLER
Miss Betsy Jane Fuller, the new voice teacher, comes here direct from the halls of Georgetown College in Kentucky, where she majored in voice. She was born in Carrollton, Ky., on the "Beautiful Ohio", but is now living in Georgetown. Miss Fuller is the happy combination of one who not only performs excellently herself, but also can teach others to do so. She has been in great demand among the civic and social clubs of Shelby as well as in the churches.

MR. W. LAWSON ALLEN
Mr. W. Lawson Allen, who teaches Religious Education and is director of Religious Activity, is a native Tar Heel and has studied at the University of Tennessee and at Western Carolina Teachers College, where he received a B. S. degree. He has also studied at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, from which place he came here. Previously he had been director of Religious Education at Asheville. One of his many activities is to promote better relations between the churches and the churches of these associations, to which work he is enthusiastically giving his energy. He also lives in the faculty apartments with his wife and small daughter.

FACTORY NEWS

This summer Miss Cuthbertson, Miss Miller, and Miss Dorothy Smith did graduate work in institutions of higher learning. Miss Cuthbertson went to the University of North Carolina for work in the field of English; Miss Miller studied music at the Cincinnati Conservatory; and Miss Smith took work in the field of physical education at Columbia University.

On Tuesday, November 28, Miss Cuthbertson attended the wedding of her cousin in Monroe.

Miss Cuthbertson will read Dickens's Christmas Carol for the D. A. B.'s and also for the Cecilia Music Club of Shelby.

Miss Betty Jones, of Fort Myers, Fla., via Mr. Matt Smith and Miss Fuller for a week during October.

Mr. Harold Allen, of Owensboro, Kentucky, student of Georgetown College, was in Bowling Springs for a week-end visiting Miss Fuller.

Mrs. Claude F. Fuller, of Georgetown, Ky., came to Gardner-Webb to attend the voice recital of her daughter.

Miss Frances Cuthbertson has an after-dinner coffee for faculty members honoring Mr. Harold Allen.

Among friends visiting the college have been Mr. B. E. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Roberts, Lieut. and Mrs. Bob Brooks, and Capt. and Mrs. John Z. McBrayer.

Miss Jennie Smith is once more engaged in her full calendar of activities, after having had to slow down for a short time on account of her leg.

Mrs. Hubert Dixon is back from Gulfport, where she spent a month with her husband, the former dean of Gardner-Webb.

Reverend John Suttle, who held a revival in Bowling Springs, was the dinner guest of Miss Carolyn Wray. Miss Edna Allen and Hilda Sutton visited the Allens at their home November the 26th.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

A formal Thanksgiving dinner was given in the dining hall of the college on November 21, at 6:30 p.m. The menu, planned by our dietitian, Mrs. James Harris, was as follows:

- Cranberry Salad
- Boiled Ham
- Mashed Potatoes
- Green Beans
- Rolls
- Milk

Ice Cream Cake
Appropriate favors were given the guests. These favors, made in the form of turkeys, were of oranges, which served as the body; prunes, as the neck; and cherries, as the head. The feet and tail were made of heavy paper. Naturally, food is always well-combed, so a vote of thanks is in order for Mrs. Harris.

MR. HOLT McPHERSON
No roster of the new faculty members would be complete without the name of Mr. Holt McPherson, the managing editor of the Shelby Star. He is the strong case of a faculty member who is not a "miliater without portfolio," who, out of the goodness of his heart, is teaching a class in journalism.

"How was the baby show?"
"Howling success."

LIBRARY NEWS

The physical equipment of the Washburn Memorial Library has been greatly improved by the installation of a new stove in the past few weeks.

The library has also been rearranged for the convenience of the librarian, as well as the students.

There have been some fifty-five new books recently added in the fields of science, history, home economics, French, music, and some fiction. We are expecting more new books soon, but because of the holiday rush, they were not sent as soon as usual.

Some especially good reading is "The Nazarene" and "The Apostle", by Sholem Asch—novels based on Biblical characters.

We have been very fortunate in receiving books as gifts from the Baptist Hospital, E. M. Jeffrey, head of the Book Shop of U. N. C., Edwin Gill, and Felix Hamrick.

Some of the new additions to our collection of newspapers, The Forest City Courier.

Miss Wray, the librarian, has nine assistants. They are as follows: Bertie Black, Mooresboro; Martha Connor, Forest City; Calvin Crowe, Hollis; Sarah Jane Davis, Shelby, route 3; Jackie Huskey, Shelby; Mary Sue Keeter, Cliffside; Marigold Long, Forest City; Elizabeth Scism, Statesville; and Martiny Ann Walker, Ellenboro, North Carolina.

NEW WELL

The drilling of a new well for the town of Bowling Springs has just been completed by R. E. Paw and Sons of Hickory, N. C. The finished well now stands only about 90 yards from the one that has been used up until the present time. It was drilled at an expense of $1,525. This excludes the cost of the pump which will be from $1,200 to $1,900.

The operation which was started on November 14, was completed Tuesday, December 5. The new well is only 805 feet deep. The drilling of the well was quite a tedious process. Rock was struck at 70 feet, the first 30 feet of which was sandrock, the next 20 feet, quartz, and the rest of the way down, granite. Water is now standing within 25 feet of the surface of the well and the pump is raising approximately 150 gallons per minute. Both wells will be utilized in the future to furnish well water for the town and college.

The town is now using water at the rate of 40 gallons per minute throughout the day and night. The old well did furnish this supply readily, but has fallen off recently, and the new well is expected to alleviate any shortage of water in the future.

OMISSION

A call to service came to me one day, and I said, "And I, too busy, frowned and turned away. 'Twas years ago, yet oft at night I wake And ask forgiveness for that blind mistake."
—Isa F. Richardson

Ethel: "Is the man you are engaged to at all bookish?"

Marie: "Well, yes; pocket-bookish."

NEW DIETITIAN

As the old adage goes, "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Mrs. James Harris, our new dietitian has not only won the boys' hearts but the girls' as well, by the delicious food she has planned for us this year. She came to our campus last year as Home Economics teacher and won the hearts of the students then, so we know her excellent ability as dietitian is not the only fine quality she possesses.

This year Mrs. Harris is very capable holding down two jobs, that of Home Economics teacher and dietitian. When Mrs. Lillian Ritch, former dietitian here for twenty-five years, retired, we were lucky to get Mrs. Harris to take her place. Her well planned meals, such as chocolate pie, gingerbread, and we could not forget the milk we get each Sunday night, has helped to make her a hit with all the students. The food she could forget milk with everyone, too, because we have noticed most of the students have gained a few extra pounds.

"I'm afraid these Louis XV heels are much too high for me. Perhaps you have lower ones—say about Louis X."

DEAN OF WOMEN

"A perfect woman, nobly planned, to warn, to comfort, and command." A perfect description of our Dean of Women, Miss Frances Cuthbertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Cuthbertson of Monroe, and a graduate of the University of C. C. Miss Cuthbertson has been on our campus four years and has won the love and admiration of every student that has had the opportunity to know her. Since she came to Gardner-Webb she has been connected with the English Department. This year she is not only teaching English but is holding the position of Dean of Women. Miss Cuthbertson's lovely personality, understanding ways, and fairness in dealing with students are the most outstanding of the many desirable qualities she possesses. It is to her that
