

John Jordan and Carolyn Cuthbertson

TOP SOPHS

By Georgia Cooke

The "Pilot" salutes as "Top Sophs" of the month, Carolyn Cuthbertson and John Jordan.

Carolyn is a graduate of Marion High School in Marion, North Carolina. There, Carolyn was a participant in many of the school activities.

At Gardner-Webb, she is a member of Woman's Self Government Association, cheerleader, typist for the Pilot, and a member of the Anchor Staff.

Some of Carolyn's favorites are, movie, "Initiation of Life"; color, blue; food, hamburger and Pepsi; song, "How Great Thou Art."

She plans to enter Appalachian State Teachers College this fall and there take up commercial teaching.

Some of her hobbies are swimming and reading.

John is a native of Washington, D. C. There he attended Eastern High School. While in school he was on the baseball team, track team, and a member of the choir. He participates in all three here at Gardner-Webb.

Some of John's hobbies are music, his favorite singer is Johnny Mathis, watching sports, and studying his Bible.

John is a Religious Education major.

They Also Ran—With the present jubilation over our baseball success it would be easy to overlook the fact that we had a fine track team this spring too. The cinder boys turned in a fine performance, however, and Coach Blackburn boasts pride in his team.

In The Good Old Days

By Liz Raben

When my little grandchildren come to visit me, they always like for me to tell them about when I was growing up and my strange experiences.

Well, last night I got 'em all rounded up and told some real humdingers. I remember back in 1928, when I was scared of the dark. You see one night I was coming home from a country party with my hair so hairled this here noise what sounded like a tiger out there in the dark of them trees. Well, I told ma not to fear, 'cause I was near, I did. Well, I picked me up a pole to work it over. I was glad it was dark so ma couldn't see as how scared I was. We trudged on quietly, but there came just a racing down that road in front of us, what I thought was the death of me! I caught hold of that pole as firmly as my shaking hands would allow, and stood there in front of us who was frozen to the ground. With it's big eyes it looked right at me. But wait, it was me! "Oh my," I said, as it went on by us. "What? Why, ma, it was just a bony dog chasing a frazzled cat. See, I tried to tell you it wasn't nothing to worry about."

Then another time I remember something what was the most fun. Pa bought one of these new horsesless cars. It was a Model T Ford. One day my younger brother Alphonse and me slipped out to it and loaded our pet pig and old roosters in it and started playing around with those gadgets and knobs. Alphonse cranked, I pushed, pulled and all that, and the first thing we knew was that thing had gone up and down, spun around on us and begin to bounce down that road. Well, with us hollering for it to "whoa," and the blasted roosters was flying around, feathers flying and all such as that, you never saw such a sight in your life. Well, we decided we wanted to get off of it so we stopped it, and so we thought we better make the best of it. We steered it and kept it going sorts straight. We were going down this hill and there was a river at the bottom of it so I told everybody to "hold on!" We plowed right through that river and

Annual Awards Day

Holiday was held on Gardner-Webb campus at the chapel hour on Monday, May 11. Gardner-Webb observed its first annual Award's Day. Awards were given to the following: Publications Award, Sonja Hedrick, former Business Manager of the Pilot; Science Award, Joe Willis; Math Award, Jerry Allen. Certificates were presented to the debate team, football, track, basketball, and baseball teams. Debutantes Mrs. Paula Hughes and Janice Anderson were presented with a cup for the perfect record they held in the Smoky Mountain Forensic Tournament. Awards were given to the four all-conference football players — Fred Heavner, Charles Mantooth, Ed Lohr, and Curt Bruffey. Recognition was given to Ed Lohr as the only person lettering in three sports — football, basketball, and baseball. Certificates were also presented to the Girls' Basketball team and the Cheerleaders.
