

May Day '70 Makes World Of Disney Come Alive

By DONNA TURNER

Strains of music filled the air as four little elves spread their magic dust. The doors of Hamrick were swung open and out came elephants, monkeys, toy soldiers, dancing dolls, a parade of live cards, and other story book characters. The world of Disney had come alive.

"May Day in Disneyland", which proved to be a highlight of Gardner-Webb's spring calendar, was held May 2nd.

The crowning of May Queen Vickie Jackson was the feature event of the day. Attending the Queen was Hebeba Jamerson, Maid of Honor. Other court members were May Barton, Claudia Houser, Susan Arrington, Melodey Bennick, Stephanie Angelo, and Susan Arison.

Entertainment presented to the Queen included the traditional maypole dance. The hearts of the audience were won by the dances done by the girls' dorms and the female day students. The Jungle Book characters of HAPY, the Babes of Toyland from Stroup, the marching cards from Nancey, and the day students' Uncle Remus characters were delightful.

Don Zedick and Leslie Hamrick portrayed two Disney characters. Flower girls were from Middlebrook and April Abernathy; train bearer was Pat Litton; and crown bearer, Danny Murrill. Steve Coldron, newly-elected president of the Queen body, crowned the Queen.

The parents of G.W. students were invited to attend the events of the day, which included a slide-sound program, a campus tour, and lunch and dinner in the cafeteria. A May Day reception for students and their parents was held in the O. Max Gardner Building.

The day-long events were brought to a close by a concert presented by the Brooklyn Bridge.

Vickie Jackson, (center front) was crowned May Queen of 1970. Her attendants were (left to right) Melodey Bennick, Stephanie Angelo,

Susan Arrington, May Barton, Maid of Honor Hebeba Jamerson, Sue Arison, and Claudia Houser

The Brooklyn Bridge concert brought a successful close to the May Day activities.

Student's Play To Be Performed

THE MAGIC WORLD, a new marionette play, will be presented in two performances on May 9th and 10th at 3:30 p.m. at the Opera House Theatre. Written by drama major Sue Anne Sandifer, the play is being performed with marionettes made and operated by students of the drama department. Tickets for the performance will be available at the theatre box office at the time of performance. Seats will not be reserved for this production.

Are You Glad You Returned?

By DAN SNYDER

A student survey was taken to ask some upperclassmen this question: How do you feel now about your decision to return to Gardner-Webb and stay for your years?

Janet Whisnant: "It's too late to do anything else. Besides, I haven't even thought about going to another college because I enjoy being here and being a part of the progress that G-W is making. However, I realize that being a student here while the college is moving toward accreditation is hard on me; but I am glad I am here because it gives me and the rest of the students an opportunity to grow -- mature with the college."

Page Nowlan: "I feel that my decision is justified, that G-W is doing all it can to prepare me with a 4-year education, it was planning on transferring, but the smallness of the school and the atmosphere made me decide to stay here and obtain what I consider as a well-rounded education."

Beverly Cash: "I am glad I am here. I feel that I am better satisfied at G.W. than I would be anywhere else."

Jack McGill: "I am glad that I made the decision to return to G.W. My main reason for returning was because of the faculty and the students."

Linda Vancannon: "If G.W. hadn't gone four years, it would be impossible for me to finish my education. I believe in the school and what it is becoming. However, at first I had my doubts of G.W. being a four year school because I thought that the college would lose in quality and gain in quantity. But with the progress that has been made, I feel that nothing has been lost; everything has been gained. Also, I feel that the best for the college is at the heart of Dr. Poston and his staff."

Steve Coldron: "I am glad I am returning to G.W. mainly because of what I believe that the college can be."

Esther Hudgins: "I am glad that I made the decision to return to G.W. I am satisfied with the education that I am receiving at the college. Although I am a little bit apprehensive as to the progress G.W. must make, I feel that things will work out."

Big Year, Big Summer Ahead

By DAN SNYDER

The Ministerial Association has had a very successful year for the students who are studying for a church-related vocation. The ministerial students have preached a total of 165 sermons in churches throughout North and South Carolina. The F.O.C.U.S., Fellowship of Christians United in Service, has held youth revivals in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Florida. Besides preaching and holding youth revivals, many of the students have traveled and visited the various Baptist seminaries.

Also many of these students will be working in various occupations this summer. Students who will be working in churches all over the Carolinas are: Roger Gallors, Bill Harrill, Mary Causby, Jeff Cranford, Reg Alexander, and Teresa Jackson. Linda Johnson, Rita Justice, and Belinda Thompson will be working in summer camps. Dale Webb, Steve Gregory, Bobby Campbell, Patsy Bumgarner, Pam McCall, and Donna Turner will be working in N. C. churches through State Baptist Youth Corps program.

Assignments for the summer missions program of the Home Missions Board are: Kathie Loveland, Pennsylvania; George McChee, Illinois; Dan Snyder, New Mexico.

Jane Best and Judy Hannah will be working in the school-sponsored missions program in New Jersey. Touring in Europe and Asia this summer, Eddie Sparks will be singing with the Good News Singers Over America.

An "around the tour" climaxed by attendance at the Baptist World Alliance in Tokyo will be conducted by Dr. E. Eugene Poston this summer. Dr. Robert Lamb will also lead a tour to the orient to attend the Alliance.

Clubs Report Activities

Magician Presented By F.C.A.

Mar Dini, the hypnotist and magician, appeared in the Best Gymnasium of Gardner-Webb on Wednesday, April 22 at 7:30 p.m. He was presented by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes of the college.

Mar Dini is described as "remarkable". In his twenty-one years of experience he has helped those with failing memories, students studying for examinations, and persons with various physical ailments. He is the only hypnotist in the world who can stand outside of a building putting a subject inside to sleep without post-hypnotic suggestion.

Mar Dini attended Clemson, Lander, Erskine, and Duke University.

The price of tickets was $1.00 and the public was limited. All proceeds went to the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

New Officers Announced

C.I.R.U.N.A. elected new officers for the year 1970-71. They are as follows: president, Wayne Roberts; vice-president, Ed Kessling; secretary-treasurer, Mary Ann Dorsey; assistant secretary, Patsy Bumgarner.

Dropping its membership in Phi Theta Kappa, the national junior college honorary society, the Gardner-Webb Honor Society has begun making plans for its role in the senior college program.

Newly-elected officers of this club are: David Webb, president; Teddy Monroe, vice-president; Claudia Houser, secretary; Judy LeCroy, treasurer; and Kathy Daves, reporter.

Talent Show Rated Success

Phi Beta Lambda's annual Talent Show, held April 10 in Hamrick Auditorium, was rated by club members as their most successful show yet. First prize of $15 was won by David Furcron of Greenville, S. C., for his rendition of "Comin' Home Baby" and "And I Sang" on the flute. Second prize of $10 was presented to Vickie Hill of Charlotte, N. C., for singing "Cry Me A River". Third prize, $5, was awarded to Ella Harrison, Greenville, S. C., and Judy Smith, Bolling Springs, N. C., for their duet of "Let It Be Me". All winners were featured on the "Six and Company Show" on WSPA-TV, Channel 7, Spartanburg, S. C., on April 15.

During Phi Beta Lambda's meeting April 20th, officers for 70-71 were elected. The new president of the club is Jimmy Best, rising senior from Burlington, N. C. Vice-president will be Cecil Van Dyke, a rising junior from Shelby, N.C. New treasurer is Doug Hawley, a rising junior from Durham, N. C.; and secretary is Barbara Thompson, rising sophomore from Wadesboro, N.C. Chaplain will be Steve Wilson, rising junior from Greenville, S. C., and reporter will be Ed McGimpsey, a rising senior from Lenoir, N. C. Plans were also made at the meeting to organize a cookout for the club members on May 7.

Talent Show winners were (left to right) Judy Smith, Ella Harrison, Vickie Hill, Tommy Combs, and David Furcron.

E. & M. Mobil Homes, Inc.

Offering $100.00 Discount to GW students, 1445 East Dixon Blvd., By-Pass 74, Shelby, N. C. Bob & Lena Edwards, owners. Phone (704) 482-2538.