

Dogs Chew Wingate

By BURT WILSON

Gardner-Webb has an undefeated football team ranked in the top five in the nation that has established itself as the team to beat in the SAC-8 this season. What else could anyone ask for our Homecoming weekend?

The Bulldogs defeated conference foe Newberry 36-29, took a week off, then came back and pounded Wingate Saturday, 33-3. These victories, coupled with Catawba's 2-0 win over defending national champion Carson-Newman, vaulted Gardner-Webb to the top of the SAC-8 standings as they enter this weekend's contest against Lenoir-Rhyne.

The most impressive Bulldog in the past two games has been place-kicker Jeff Parker. If this Seneca, South Carolina, native continues his present pace, he will virtually own the Gardner-Webb record books. Against Newberry Parker booted a career best 49 yard field goal and a school record five field goals for the game. Following the victory, he was the number two scoring kicker in the NAIA. Also against Wingate, Parker kicked field goals of 20 and 27 yards to give him 21 three-pointers in his 15 game career breaking the school record.

After a week off, the Bulldogs traveled to Monroe, North Carolina, to take on the "other" Bulldogs of Wingate. Darrell Middleton rushed for 114 yards on nine carries, including a 74 yard touchdown to lead Gardner-Webb to a 33-3 victory. Wingate averted the shut-out when Michael May kicked a 36 yard field goal with four seconds left in the game. The win upped Gardner-Webb's record to 4-0, while Wingate dropped to 2-2.

Dr. Bill Stowe is planning a trip to London, England for spring break, March 7-14 1988. A preliminary estimate on the cost of the trip is $799.00 and includes round trip airfare from Charlotte, a hotel room in central London (double occupancy) with private baths, unlimited subway and bus travel, breakfast in the room, and half day bus tour with a Thames River cruise. Anyone interested should see Dr. Stowe in C.I.D. 111 or call ext. 272. A deposit will be required before Christmas.

Doug Lewis / Friend

By Slouder

Gardner-Webb has a new Dean of Men. His name is Doug Lewis and he comes to us from Carson-Newman where he was a Resident Director (C-N has a unique system for RDs- they are all adults with college degrees). He is also a graduate of Carson-Newman. Upon graduation, Lewis took a job with Lee Industries. This was a time when Lewis said he was "fighting the will of God in his life." Lewis felt God wanted him for the ministry, but he did not wish to go into it. After accepting God's will in life, he entered Southwestern Seminary. Of seminary Lewis says, "I loved it. I wish I could have stayed there."

After seminary, Lewis worked as Dean of Student Services at Dallas Baptist College. His duties included: scheduling entertainment, planning trips, and organizing the Miss Dallas Baptist College pageant.

When asked of some of his goals for GWC, Lewis listed dorm improvements, increased dorm competition, and better faculty-student relations. His main goal is to become the guys' friend. He stressed that "his door was always open." He does not always want to talk shop either, commenting that "he just likes to talk."

Of course, Lewis does have a firm stand on discipline. However, he does not want to come off as ruling with the proverbial "iron hand." He is here to help the students. We welcome Doug Lewis aboard the staff of Gardner-Webb and wish him the best of luck.

Back Stage Pass

By Deborah Cravey

The stage is set for laughter as the Gardner-Webb chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, the national theatre fraternity, prepares to open its 1987-88 season. After weeks of deliberation, Director John Brock has decided to make his Gardner-Webb debut with Neil Simon's romantic comedy, "Barefoot in the Park". The play, which made its first appearance on the New York stage in 1963, takes place in the present and is set entirely in a sixth-story walk-up apartment on East 48th Street in New York City. The story revolves around a newlywed couple and their hilarious misadventures involving the bride's mother, as well as their newly-acquired unconventional neighbors.

There will be a pre-audition workshop on Monday, Oct. 12, from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. This one-night session, to be held on the main stage of the Kathleen Dover Theatre, is designed to help prospective cast members become familiar with the script and more comfortable with the play and its characters. True auditions are scheduled for the following evening, October 13, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

In other theatre news, the Alpha Psi Omega group is currently sponsoring an acting workshop, which is being conducted by Marilyn Carter from Mathews, North Carolina. The workshop consists of four sessions, three and a half hours in length, where participants work on such acting techniques as diction, concentration, and inner reflection. Ms. Carter is a distinguished actress and director who has worked with the theatre departments at Jersey City State College and Yale Psychiatric Institute, among others, and her numerous credits include Off-Broadway and North Carolina Stage Company productions.

With the increasing interest in the dramatic arts here at GWC, more theatre activities will be scheduled for the future, and that means there will be more room for participation by students and faculty, both onstage and behind the scenes. Anyone who would like to be a part is encouraged to see either John Brock at the theatre or Mandy Thomas, President of Alpha Psi Omega.
