

The Pilot

GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

The Official Campus Newspaper

Thursday, April 30, 1992 No. 12

Boiling Springs, North Carolina

Earth Day 1992: An Outdoor Affair

By Dawn E. Camp
Editor

Thanks to the efforts of a few concerned students, Earth Day 1992 did not go by unnoticed on Gardner-Webb's campus. The students, including Aimee Stewart, Angie Lane, Chris Glaves, Greg Carpenter, and Dawn Camp, and faculty advisor Tom English planned an afternoon outside.

Activities started with a picnic dinner behind the DCC. Some students joined to play volleyball in the yard. Other events were held to increase awareness of can collecting on campus.

At 5:30 p.m., the second-annual GWC Can Slam was held. Judges Mike McCalley, Drs. Tom Jones, Rudee Boan, and Bill Stowe unanimously chose Lance McNally as the winner. McNally hurdled another student and landed on an aluminum can. Though the crush was not quite perfect, McNally won due to originality and difficulty of the jump. Second place in the Can Slam went to Jim Jefferson.

The next major event was the 13-Can Dash. Eleven students competed in the race, in which students had to crush 13 cans and race for the finish line. Ed Faille won the event, finishing the course in 6.03 seconds. Second place finisher was Chris Dawkins, 6.28 seconds.

The final winner of the day was in the can guessing event. Students tried to guess the number of crushed cans in a plastic trash bag. Bill Parks won with an exact guess of 242 cans.

All of the winners won prizes which were donated by Pizza Connection in Shelby and by the Student Entertainment Association.

The main emphasis of the afternoon was the displays on environmental issues. Topics include: saving water, household recycling, ozone, light pollution, deforestation, landfills, and CD packaging.

A large number of students attended the Earth Day celebration. Some, English said, questioned the use of styrofoam plates at the picnic.

"We were promised on several occasions by the cafeteria management

See EARTH, page 3

Gardner-Webb College Retirees, 1992

Dr. George Cribb

Mr. Lansford Jolley

Dr. Lonnie Proctor

These three faculty members have among them 91 years of service to Gardner-Webb College! These are familiar faces on campus and in the community, for their accomplishments are varied and profuse. We recognize a life-time of service that they represent. Even as they retire from "active duty," we trust that they will continue to be meaningful participants in the community they have helped to build.

Kilby Resigns

Randy Kilby, director of the Gardner-Webb Admissions program for the last decade, has accepted a similar position at Georgetown College in Kentucky.

Mr. Kilby has become well-known for his interest in Gardner-Webb students, for his efforts to attract highly-qualified students through the Presidential Scholars Program, and for his entertaining luncheon and dinner addresses.

Kilby has been a primary force in the success of this college and the constant embodiment of the principle of "personal attention." We wish him success.

Final Examination Schedule

Time	May 1 Friday	May 2 Saturday	May 4 Monday	May 5 Tuesday	May 6 Wednesday	May 7 Thursday
8:00 - 11:00 a.m.	TTh 1:15 - 2:30	MWF 12:00 - 12:50	MWF 2:00 - 2:50	TTh 10:25 - 11:40	MWF 8:00 - 8:50	TTh 8:00 - 9:15
1:00 - 4:00 p.m.	MWF 11:00 - 11:50	TTh 2:40 - 3:55	MWF 9:00 - 9:50	TTh 11:50 - 1:05	MWF 10:00 - 10:50	MWF 1:00 - 1:50