Trask packed for Wizards exhibition

BRAD HUTCHENS

THE SEAHAWK

Trask Coliseum played host Tuesday night to an inter-squad exhibition game of the NBA's Washington Wizards. The coliseum was packed to maximum capacity with UNCW students, faculty and staff hoping to see the NBA team and its most famous executive, Michael Jordan, a Wilmington native.

The team was split into two squads (the Blue and White teams), which played four 10-minute quarters for a lively UNCW crowd. The final result of the game saw the White team defeating the Blue team, 78-69.

During the first quarter, the Blue team jumped out to an early 10-5 lead before the White squad answered to tie the score at 14-14, midway through the period. The Wizards' offense showed moments of offensive brilliance with some excellent ball movement and good defense. Towards the end of the quarter, players on both sides of the ball began to show some signs of fatigue.

The second quarter saw the Blue team leading by a score of 22-18, but that would soon change. White then went on a run to take the lead again towards the end of the second quarter. Leading the White charge was 6'5" guard, Felipe Lopez, despite some good defense by the Blue's, Cherokee Parks. In the closing minutes of the half, Blue surged to come within one point before time expired, making the halftime score 38-37.

The third period began with both teams exchanging baskets before Parks hit a fifteen foot jump-shot that put Blue back in the lead. White then answered back and would take the lead away for good, making the score at the end of the third 61-54.

Throughout the entire fourth quarter, the Blue team was caught playing catch-up to a White squad that would not give up the lead. Blue would cut the lead to 5, before falling behind again to 9 points, despite frantic efforts to foul and stop the clock.

Statistically, leading the way offensively for the White team, Lopez poured in 21 points on 7-11 shooting from the field. For the Blue squad, former Maryland standout Laron Profit scored 15 points along with three assists. Parks also put up a good defensive effort for Blue, finishing the game with six boards and three blocked shots. As a team, White posted a shooting percentage of 52 compared to 45 percent produced by Blue.

The head coach of the of the Washington Wizards, Leonard Hamilton, was pleased with parts of his team's performance, however he still commented on areas that needed to be improved. He said, "I'm concerned about our transi-

Men's golf breaks school record in home tourney win

BEN JONES

SPORTS EDITOR

WALLACE, N.C. - The UNC Wilmington men's golf team fought back from two-strokes down to mount a 17-shot lead over Elon College and win the UNCW/River Landing Intercollegiate located in Wallace, N.C., at the River Landing Golf Course. Even though the Seahawks played host to 14 colleges over the two-day tournament, Oct. 2-3, it was really only a two-school competition between UNCW and Elon.

score for a round on Monday. Gee, who is from Surrey, England, shot a personal best 67 for round one, while Brown, a Walnut Cove, N.C. native, was one-stroke behind at 68, also a career best.

The Seahawks took a four-shot advantage on a 279 score over the Phoenix of Elon into the second round of the tourney.
