Grapplers Sport 5-4 Mark; Teal and Leake Unbeaten

BY SCOTT McCREA

SA's wrestlers defeated a tough Guilford squad Tuesday, 23-20 as Hunter Bahnsen pinned his man in the final match to clinch the win for the Knights. Bahnsen's pin came midway through the second quarter, providing the winning five points and sending the crowd into ecstasy.

The match started badly for the Knights, as Del Tosto and Royall were both pinned by their Guilford opponents. However, the team made an immediate comeback, tying the score at 10-10 as Leake and Morgan each won by forfeit.

Big Jan Bartlett won a tough-fought decision at the 152 spot to put the Knights ahead for the first time, and then terrific Tommy Teal came on with a second period pin to put the Knights up by 8 points.

Ken Pritchard was pinned at 177, however, and with Dodson's forfeit SA was suddenly down 18-20 with only the heavy-weight match remaining. But Bahnsen rose to the occasion and the Knights were victors by 23-20.

The grapplers lost a tough 19-16 decision to a mediocre Furman squad Monday when the heavyweight match was forfeited and the five points this time were the margin of defeat.

Del Tosto was pinned to begin the match, but John Royall evened things at the 130 class with a second period pin. Dean Leake decided his man at 137, Rick Morgan lost a decision at 145 and then it was time for the Jan Bartlett show again. SA's answer to Gorgeous George had his man on his back without even working up a good sweat.

Denny Dodson lost a decision at 160 when he injured his shoulder and lost a good bit of mobility midway through the match. However, with the score 13-11 for SA, the ever smiling Mr. Teal unveiled the infamous figure four to ride his way to a 10-0 decision, and make it 16-11.

Ken Pritchard lost to Smith of Furman at 177 to bring the score to 16-14 for the Knights, but the automatic forfeit at heavyweight was the winning margin for Furman.

The season record now shows wins over Guilford, UNC-C, Methodist, Wesleyan and Campbell, with losses to Furman, Wilmington, Lynchburg and Davidson. Leake and Teal are the only undefeated wrestlers, though Teal had a draw with Williams of Davidson.

Jan Bartlett has lost only twice, to Thompson of Wilmington in the season opener, and Spradlin of Lynchburg. Teal, Leake and Bartlett each have two or more pins to their credit.

merica". This course is the only one open to the people of Laurinburg. Notes describing the non-credit course read, "A survey of the historical experience of black people in the United States from the African heritage to the present, with emphasis on the social and cultural experience".

Women will be given the opportunity to study basic automobile mechanics. In this course St. Andrews' women will study the workings of the automobile from the inside out. As well as learning the basic facts concerning cars and their parts, those taking this course will study price lists so that they might become familiar with retail prices of equipment.

"Wines: Their Drinking, Ordering, Sewing, and Storing", is a crash course in the finer points of drinking. Mr. David McIlhenny plans to train the class, made up mostly of senior men, in the appreciation of fine wines. He also plans to briefly cover the major types of liquor and cocktails.

Depleted Basketball Squad Outshoots GC For Ninth Win

An awesome press defense and a much improved shooting average gave the Knights their ninth victory of the season last night as they defeated Greensboro College 70-65.

Pete Garner was high for the blue team with 18 points, followed by rubberlegs Craig Hannas who bagged 15, and Gary Linn with 13.

The first half was dominated by the SA defense, alternating between a 2-1-2 zone and a full court press. With Fitch and Turner out front and Fernandez, Gray and Garner under the nets, Greensboro was forced to take long shots from the outside. Though they hit often enough, they weren't getting all the shots they needed to keep up with the Knights. The Greensboro defense was almost as good, and Linn and Fitch were hitting the shots from outside that kept SA in front. At the half it was 32-26 for SA.

The Knights came out pressing from the start in the second half, but Greensboro kept in the game with some very accurate outside shooting over the press. Tony Fernandez grabbed some key rebounds for the Knights until he collected his fourth foul and took a rest, but Hannas came in and pounded the boards awhile, grabbing everything in sight and hitting several high lofty jumpers. Garner was banging away all the time with his patented jump shot, and with Gredelein and McGinnis driving the scoring machine from their guard positions, Greensboro's shooting just wasn't enough. The last few minutes of the game belonged to Larry Gray, who hit some important foul shots and grabbed a couple of critical rebounds from the Greensboro board.

An outmanned SA squad was defeated by a Jim Darden-led Methodist five Monday night, 80-68. Darden amassed a total of 38 points for the night, while controlling both the offensive and defensive boards. Pete Garner was high man for SA, scoring 19 points and gathering 6 rebounds. Tony Fernandez pumped in 12 points and collected 7 rebounds, high for the Knights. Gary Linn continued to perform well in a reserve role, pouring in 12 markers while grabbing 4 rebounds. The Knights were obviously hurt depth-wise by the loss of Brent Rhue and Craig Hannas, both out with academic difficulties. Hannas, however, was able to re-join the squad last night and played an instrumental role in the victory.

During January the Knights went on a victory binge and racked up wins over Pembroke, 84-82, Lander College, 92-84, Wesleyan twice by scores of 81-79 and 95-79, and UNC-C by 88-80. There were three losses, to Greensboro, Lynchburg and Charleston.

Pistol Pete Garner currently leads all SA scorers with about a 23 point average, and has been one of the main contributors to the Knights' 9-6 season record.

Team scoring leader Pete Garner goes up for two in the Pembroke game, won by the Knights by a scant two points. Garner is averaging now about 23 points per game, and gets most of them on short jumpers like this one. (photo by mccrea)

All-American

FOR THE SECOND CONSECUTIVE YEAR, goalie Craig Hannas has been awarded All American honors. The sophomore goaltender, who hails from Cranburg, New Jersey, earned the unique distinction last year of being named All American as a freshman, when he was credited with over 300 saves and seven shutout games.

Keglers Lead League as Ligon and Williamson Pace Squad

The St. Andrews Keglers continued their winning ways last Sunday with a 3-1 victory over the College of Charleston on the Knights' lanes. The team's record now stands at 16-4.

Frank Ligon has been the big gun for the Knights. His 184 average leads the Dixie Conference. Larry Williamson, a freshman from Fayetteville, has teamed with Ligon to lead the team to its league leading position. If the squad wins the regular season conference this year, it will mark the third consecutive year that they have copped the honor. The tournament title has rested with the team in 1966 and 1968. Lynchburg captured the crown in 1967.

Against Charleston the scores were the lowest of the year as Charleston's clean-up man, Raymie Chapman took top honors with a 515 set for three games. Williamson's 512 was high for the Knights.

After dropping the first game 838 to 810, Doc McLean's charges bounced back with an 820-765 win in the second game and an 801-789 victory in the final tilt.

Against Lynchburg Williamson led the Knights with a 599 set. His 244 first game is the high game in the conference in several years. George Duck-er added support with a 165-208-166-539 total.

The match against Charlotte saw the most consistent hurling by the Knights so far this season. Ligon pounded the pins for a 234 game in the opening tilt as the team scored a 911-830 win.
