Knights Triumph Thrice; Shut Out Greensboro 4-0

The beginning of St. Andrews' soccer season, amid all the festivities, ended in disaster as St. Andrews lost the opener 2-1 to East Carolina. Although we dominated the game almost entirely, we were unable to score. The question at that time in many of our minds was whether or not we could defeat Pfeiffer and begin building up momentum. When Pfeiffer scored the first goal, immediately the thought that ran through our minds was, "Oh no, not again." Fortunately about five minutes before the half, we began to move, and John Daniel's second quarter goal added the necessary inspiration. We went on to defeat Pfeiffer 5-2 as freshman Johnnie Catmur scored two goals.

Last Saturday, S.A. beat Methodist 4-1 on Parent's Day in a game in which every S.A. player had an opportunity to play. The first goal was scored by Don Cooper on a long booming kick by veteran fullback John Rhoderick. Catmur scored again along with two other freshmen Prem Thoonkapalin and Richard Rhoderick. For his outstanding performance last week, Catmur was awarded player of the week.

Tuesday, S.A. was host to UNC-G, and although the defense played below par, S.A. recorded its first shut-out of the season, 4-0. S.A.'s new emphasis on offense and defense is different from the past. This year, all eleven men are expected to play offense and defense, so when it is said the defense had a below par game, it doesn't mean only the halfbacks, fullbacks, and goalies. The problem with playing a team like UNC-G is that we dominated the game so much that everyone thinks about playing offense. It was evident that UNC-G controlled the ball very little as they only recorded a very few shots, while we shot at least forty times. Unfortunately, our shooting percentage seems to be quite low, and of the forty-plus shots, only a few were really good shots.

S.A. began scoring early in the first quarter when a cross by Catmur was boomed by Don Cooper. Again, the other three goals were credited to freshmen. Prem Thoonkapalin scored twice; first on a penalty kick and secondly on an indirect kick. Freshman Bobby Latshaw also scored on one of the finest shots of the afternoon.

Elsewhere on the field, the halfbacks, Freeman, Vakos, and Johnson have done excellent jobs in controlling midfield play. Often the halfbacks are overlooked, but in reality they are the most overworked players on the field. Halfbacks make or break a team, and so far ours seem to be holding us together. The fullbacks Rhoderick, Dufek, and freshman Asbury, have also played well together. They cover for each other and communicate very well in addition to their superb individual skills.

S.A.'s problems thus far has really been lack of field unity. The fullbacks and goalie Jeff Beales work together well and the front line works together well. But as of this point in the season, the fullbacks, halfbacks, and front line have had their problems working together. We are working hard to correct this and it is showing. When we get it corrected, watch out.

In case you have not noticed, since the first game, we have been scoring goals. There are now three members of the squad who have scored three goals: Cooper, Catmur, and Thoonkapalin. My prediction is that soon we will be scoring even more.

This week-end, S.A. is on the road to play two games, one Friday with N.C. Wesleyan and one Saturday with Virginia Wesleyan.

The Bicycle club will be journeying to McColl this Saturday, October 9. Those wishing to participate will leave from the Student Center at 9 a.m. For more information contact Jeanne MacDougal at ext. 253.

Chamber Players To Give Concert

The North Carolina Symphony Chamber Players will present a concert Thursday, October 14 at 8:15 p.m. at the Harris Courts, the large gymnasium in the Physical Education Building at St. Andrews.

The Chamber Players are an ensemble of principal and select musicians drawn from the ranks of the full North Carolina Symphony. Instrumentation consists of four violins, viola, cello, contra bass, and flute. Their repertoire includes work by Beethoven, Bach, Block, Dvorak, Boccherini, Kennan, Haydn, Telemann, Turina, and Vivaldi.

This coming performance will be the second consecutive visit to St. Andrews for the Chamber Players, as part of the college's concert-lecture series. Last year the group, led by symphony conductor Benjamin Swalin, performed for an appreciative audience of college students and townspeople.

Admission to the performance is free for college students, as are all events of the concert-lecture series.

In the next few weeks (or even days) The Party Shoppe (Emporium of Quality)

(across the street) will be purveying fine fortified wines which are now legal in this county.

Fortified wines are so named because, at a crucial moment during their fermentation, brandy is added to raise their content to 20°, and to enhance their flavor. Included in the fortified group are Sherries from Spain, Ports from Portugal, Aromatics from France, Italy, & Greece

Also among the fortified wines are many American imitations of the above, plus a good many fruit wines fortified with either natural fruit brandy or grain alcohol.

Fortified wines are not table wines as their body and flavor is not compatible with meals. They are, however, good in the place of cocktails before and after meals, and for plain sociable enjoyment any time. These wines are not what you are used to, and their number does not include such favorites as "Boone's Farm," "Pagan Pink Ripple," or "Cold Duck," or any of the French varietals, or the Portuguese "Crackling" rosés, or the Italian "Chianti." . . . Sorry . . .

Even though unfamiliar, our selections will represent yet another World of Enjoyment to be explored across the street from St. Andrews . . .

The Party Shoppe . . . purveying Quality Beers, Ales, Tobaccos, Pipes, Gifts, Foods, and all manner of pleasurable consumables from this and other countries.
