

KNIGHTS TEAMWORK ON THE COURTS produced this return and a victorious evening against Shaw and Meredith Colleges. (Photo by Clay Hamilton)

Knights Sweep Double Match

The St. Andrews' volleyballers defeated the women from Shaw and Meredith colleges Monday night in Raleigh. The Knights lost the first game of the match to Meredith, but went on to win two straight to take the match. They then defeated Shaw in two close games. St. Andrews' record now stands at 4-4 overall, 2-1 in their division.

The Knights lost a hard fought game, 15-12, in the first game of the Meredith match. But then behind the floor leadership of Diana Pretz and Kim Powell, they played very strong second and third games; winning 15-9, 15-6. In the second match, the Knights met a rowdy home crowd and a consistent Shaw squad. In two very close games, the Knights relied on patience to win 15-13 each time.

"We had excellent play from the front line tonight," explained coach JHo Ann Williams. "Beth Cleveland, Warra Foster and Anne Allen turned in fine performances. Debbie Grant and the rest of our back line had very good games, also. They were digging up spikes all night long."

The Knights will be missing Liz Black when they travel to UNCC for the Invitational Tournament this Friday. In last night's match she broke her little toe and will be out for three weeks.

"This is the first time we've entered a tournament of this kind," Williams continued. "Of course, not having Liz will hurt, but I think we're ready. We have already played some of the toughest matches on our schedule."

VWC PLAYER ANTAGONIZES BOB BIERBAUM (Photo and caption by Clay Hamilton)

Wesleyan Game An Exercise In "Crowd Control"

BY CLAY HAMILTON

The SA-VWC match will probably be recorded in the soccer textbooks under the chapter heading "Crowd Control". Spirits ran high and poured freely at the game and the Knights were about 200 strong. I must make an aside note here, I'm not sure why they assigned me to write this, I'm not a sports writer. Anyway, VWC played a really crooked game. I should know, I saw the whole thing through a telephoto lens. Like check out that elbow in the picture of Graham Disque taking away the ball from a mediocre VWC player. That guy is just playing dirty. No. 8 on the VWC squad, er squad, was another cheat. No. 11 mooned the crowd proving he really doesn't have an IQ, to speak of.

So what about the Knights? They looked good. The problem was they rallied too late. At the end of the game they were making moves they should have made from the beginning. Tom Dunn, Mike Herculson, Joe Casian, and the rest of the squad were making some great fast breaks at the end.

It was also toward the end that the audience was making some fast breaks. I far as I remember it peaked when Joe took out this guy who had played Disco Duck on Tom Dunn. Dean Betts had to cross the field and ask everybody to move back and calm down. Talk about team spirit, these SA fans were ready to cross the field and settle up with VWC on a hand to hand combat level. Thank God nobody had hand grenades.

So if you look back at it now, I would have to say, it was a great game with the Knights winning by not falling into the trap of acting like VWC and playing a dirty game. The crowd however, gets a D-for their conduct Say, did you notice how quick VWC got on their bus? I guess I should say more but I don't remember much details. I think the score was 2-1, their way.

The National Teacher Examinations (NTE) will be given at St. Andrews Presbyterian College on November 11, 1978.

Scores from the examinations are used by states for certification of teachers, by school systems for selection and identification of leadership qualities, and by colleges as part of their graduation requirements.

Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the tests, says they are designed to measure knowledge gained from professional and general education and in 26 subject-matter fields.

GRAHAM DISQUE taking the ball and an elbow. (Photo and caption by Clay Hamilton) work is innovative and superb, and the soundtrack is a brilliant audio-montage unequalled in its creative effect. "Citizen Kane" is considered by many to be a perfect film, possibly the best American film of all time. Welles' achievement is an extraordinary, one-of-a-kind cinematic tour-de-force.

You're Welcome To It!

By CLAY HAMILTON

It is with great reluctance that I write this but I have been itching to write this column since I got here. The subject is TA; Transactional Analysis. I think it's the greatest thing since the invention of disco clothing. It solves all my problems and helps me adjust. Like the other day, this girl came up to my room and the place was a wreck. So she said something about how I ought to clean up. "Thanks mom," I said. She was really impressed you know. O shre she gave me this angry quizzical look but I knew that was just her child trying to invent a new response. So I say, "Hey don't be such a baby." Now I've really got her going. I think we're right on the verge of transacting adult to adult. She looks kind of upset, but, hey, formalities never troubled me, so I say "Let's talk man to woman just you and me." Well she cocked her head and said in an angry monotone, "We have nothing to talk about". And then she left.

Now I know this looks like a failure but, Hey, at least we understood each other. If you get my meaning. So if she was in the mood to play "Catch me if You can", well heck I could muster up a game of "Run Don't Walk". I think they ought to teach one heck of a lot more TA courses. One that I've come up with is "TA and the Mind of God". In this course you would go through the Bible and analyze all of God's statements to man giving particular attention to Moses (What do those Ten Commandments really mean after all?) and Jesus. And also I've seen a lot of TA tests, even one called "TA for Tots." But as far back as I can remember I've never seen one for domesticated pets. So maybe we could write "TA for Pets." Hey Kennel Club you listening?

I think the quicker we get on this the greater future the whole of mankind will enjoy (Adult).

SHORT NOTES: I got an irate letter from a "Disgraceful and Surprised SA Female" concerning my mentioning the Miss St. Andrews contest. It seems that people are kind of hacked with the idea. But I've gotten thirteen contestants and expect more. The idea gang is to have a good time and raise some money for a good cause - kegs. There will be a best original costume competition, a best bee-hive hairdo competition, worst talent, most irritating presence, and cutest. I'm now asking the dorms to chip in and help raise a $100 dollar cash prize to be given to the winner. Oh if you're starting to write me a letter accusing me of sexism, don't. The Miss St. Andrews contest is open to guys too. The Writer's Forum tonight at 6:30 in Granville is going to have student readers and it should be an excellent opportunity to find out what fellow students are doing with the arts.

And of speaking of writing, Edna Ann Osmanski is looking at Chap Book manuscripts and will soon disperse details on how to submit. The Cairn is cranking up too. The boss man is Steve Allgood and he'll look at your drawings, poems, photos, and fiction.

As usual, I would like to remind you "You're Welcome to It" will answer (possibly with tongue in cheek) your questions sent to Box 174. Until next week.

Knights Defeat Francis Marion

The St. Andrews' eleven brushed Francis Marion aside Monday night claiming a 4-1 victory. Sophomore striker Bob Bierbaum lead the Knights, scoring a goal in each half. Darryl Miller and Gram Disque also scored as the Knights evened their record at 3-3.

"We simply shut them off, everyone in Blue had a good day," remarked coach Dean Betts. "We played a very deliberate game of soccer. Our mid-fielders had an exceptional game. This was one win that we really needed. With Pembroke coming up Thursday, we have a good chance to get a streak start-ted. So far, we've just traded off wins and losses."

Bob Bierbaum started the Knights off scoring the only goal of the first half. Tom Dunn faked a shot and then allowed Mac Doubles cross-pass to roll between his legs giving Bierbaum a shot on the open goal.

A tripping call on the Patriot defense gave Graham Disque a free shot to start the second period for St. Andrews. Disque blew it by the keeper in the lower right hand corner to give the Knights a 2-0 lead. Bierbaum then scored his fifth goal in six contests on a chip shot from a back for a 3-0 lead. The Patriots then scored their only goal of the game on a shot that took keeper Eric Loomis by surprise.

Freshman Gary Wannamaker then slipped past the last Patriot defender and as the goalie challenged him passed off to Darryl Miller. Miller took the shot on the empty goal and scored his fifth goal of the season.

St. Andrews will have two more matches this week, hosting Pembroke on Wednesday and College of Charleston on Saturday. The match with Pembroke is scheduled to begin at 4:00 PM.

FREE

CATALOG of COLLEGIATE RESEARCH

Over 10,000 listings! All subjects.

Send NOW for this FREE catalog.

(offer expires Dec. 31, 1978)

Send to: COLLEGIATE RESEARCH
P.O. Box 84396, Los Angeles, CA. 90073