

STUDENT PEP RALLY IS SUCCESS BEFORE FIRST GRIDIRON TEST

By La Verne Samuel

The Spirit Committee recently sponsored the school's first pep rally, and in the eyes of the students it was a success.

The student body represented itself nicely by attending and participating at the pep rally. Everyone seemed to have been full of spirit, including the Kentucky State players.

It appears that a couple of our players have their own personal fans. As Douglas Williams and Bruce Lightner were being introduced, there was a scream above the cheering of the student body. Not everyone can have his own personal fan.

Some of the male students added to the evening a few interesting and rather unique gestures as the Kentucky State players were being introduced. Interviewing one of these students, it was learned that they call themselves The Classification Spirit Group. They maintain to be a group of young men with the school spirit and have as their aim to create more school spirit among the students when the spirit seems to be dying.

Some of the members of this self-organized Spirit Group are: Joseph Hill, Joe Cunningham, Nathan Teague, Phil Davis, Tom Ivey, Leon Coleman, Steve Hammon, and others.

The students appeared to have enjoyed the playful gestures of this group along with the returning gestures of some of the Kentucky State players. However, Spirit Group, please wait until all of the players have been properly introduced before you bring forth your display again.

The pep rally is designed to produce school spirit among the students. This spirit should not be life at the end of a pep rally, but we should continue to have this spirit at the game the following day. Let us all join the Spirit Committee and Spirit Group and cheer our team on to victory.

Sophomore Class Elects Askew

By Rita Alston & Mary Session

The first official sophomore class meeting was held in Fries Auditorium on Sept. 27. The meeting was opened with the discussion of money raised from last year for a float this year, and it was decided that, by the majority, we would use the money left for the float this year.

With the results of the election the officers for this school term are:

Joseph Askew, president; David Lewis, first vice president; Lawrence Starks, second vice president; Daisy Rogers, secretary; Ruby Warren, treasurer; Wilbert McKinney and Norma Wright, Student Council representatives; and Rita Alston and Mary Session, class reporters.

The young lady elected to run for Miss Ram is Miss Gloria Jean Tyson; Miss Sophomore is Miss Quilla Montgomery; Miss SNEA is Miss Rita Alston.

"Son," said the irate boss to the office boy, late again, "do you know what time we start work around here?"

"Frankly, sir," the lad replied, "I don't. By the time I get here everybody's working."

Lawrence Starks, Jr.

Bands Shows Progress In Marching Fetes

Considering all points concerning the effectiveness of a marching unit, the assertion can undoubtedly be advanced that this year the WSSC Band is well on its way to surpass its own achievements of previous years.

A good example of this was seen and heard in their performance at Bowman Gray Stadium October 9th which was the second of their appearances. The half-time program consisted of music ranging from polkas to popular tunes expertly played, various kinds of formations and a well-executed dance step.

The reason for this enthusiastic progress can be attributed to several favorable conditions: evening classes which had conflicted with band rehearsals have been either eliminated or compensated for; interest has been uplifted; instruments have undergone minor repairs, and the type of music is getting better. But by far, the most important contributing factor has been the musicians.

In many organizations, the problem of losing good members due to self-elevation is faced. But while the band lost many good members, it has gained still better musicians or those with potential.

Leon de'Vone Barber

THAT'S TELLING HIM

You can tell a Bad Driver — he's easy to spot.

By things that he does which Good Drivers do not.

For instance, he weaves, and he darts and he swerves,

He crowds you on straight roads and passes on curves;

You can tell the Bad Driver — he makes you heart fail,

By driving, at sixty, two feet from your tail.

His signals are something there's no use in scanning.

You can never tell what the heck he is planning.

You can tell the Bad Driver, 'most anyone could,

But you can't tell him nuthin' that does any good!

—Berton Braley.

THE GREEKS' CORNER

By Azzie Wall

Object of Column

In the future this particular column will pertain exclusively to those students on campus who are members of either fraternities or sororities. This column will be the voice of the Greeks in the News Argus, as Greeks sometimes would like to express a particular point of view. So the function of this column will be to present the Greek's viewpoint on certain issues, even if these are opposing viewpoints; and to present Greek news.

We are encouraging all fraternities and sororities to deliver any news, questions, opinions, or ideas to the office of the News Argus, located in the Student Lounge Building.

OMEGA PSI PHI

The little brothers of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity are anticipating a long and courageous walk in the month of December. The club consists of six distinguished young men referred to as the "Lamps of Omega Psi Phi." They are as follows:

Frederick Warren, Curtis Hamilton, Joseph Askew, Joseph Ophier, Biffie Watts, and Bobby Guthrie.

Each of the little brother's ultimate goal is to cross those burning sands and enter into Delta land of Omega Psi Phi.

ZETA PHI BETA

The members of the Archonian Pledge Club of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority elected their officers during their meeting September 27, 1965. The following members were elected:

President, Eunice Hampton; vice president, Theresa Womble; secretary, Carolyn Brooks; assistant secretary, Sandra Graves; corresponding secretary, Barbara Tuck, and treasurer, Mary Cureton.

Others of the Archonian Pledge Club are Janice Wright, Doris Berry, and Angeline Moore.

ALPHA PHI ALPHA

The Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity has elected officers for the year 1965-66. These officers are:

President, Wiley Charles; vice president, Coleman Freeman; secretary-treasurer, James Ledbetter, and dean of pledges, James Millner.

The Alphas are planning their annual Founders Day Program to be given in December.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA

The congenial sisterhood of the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority returns to the campus of Winston-Salem State College with goals in mind more colossal than the columns of the Parthenon. Each soror represents a column that supports one common cause — finer womanhood and scholastic achievement. Officers of the chapter are:

Basileus-elect, Delois Shaw; basileus, Margaret Taylor; anti-basileus, Dennipe Carter; gram-mateus, Ruth Berger; tamiochus, Barbara Williams; hodzeos, Anita Hassel; corresponding secretary, Sherlin Black; Ivy Leaf reporter, Virginia Barr; dean of pledges, Azzie Wall, and assistant dean of pledges, Angela Wynn.

The exuberance of the Ivy Leaf Club shines through in the following pledges:

Ivies Patricia Chambers, Marjorie Wallace, Mary Willis, Doris Mintz, Jeraldine Sanders, Elsie Studevent, Emma Worthy, Flossie Allen, Vergie Mitchem, Sandra Jenkins, Mattie Alexander, and Gertrude Leslie.

Student Council Notes

The student council is planning an active year but it needs the support of the student body.

"It is my sincere hope that all the students will support the Student Council in their every endeavor," said Arthur Gray, the President of the Student Council, as he talked about plans for 1965-66.

Among those plans is a plan for a "College Bowl" series that is scheduled to begin in November. The teams are to be compiled from students who will represent various classes.

The student council is asking that each class elect its most courteous girl and boy each month. By doing this it hopes to focus more attention on courtesy here on the campus.

"The Student Council is trying to promote intellectual activities as well as broaden the social climate," said Gray. On Dec. 11, the Student Council is sponsoring a formal Christmas Ball. Details on this and other affairs will be publicized later.

—Dorothy Pearson

I Walked a Lonely Highway

I walked a lonely highway,
Amid the morning hours.
And I, no one did meet there
Along my morning course.
I walked a lonely highway,
And I a stranger met.
To me, he was more treasured,
Than the gems that man besets.
On one he shed his radiance,
To me he told his tale.
A clearer mind he left me,
As on my path I went.
Now, oft I tread that highway,
For my lonely friend to meet.
O'er hills and verdant valleys,
He shines forth and speaks to me.

—Constance Farrington

TOP TEN ON CAMPUS

1. Since I Lost My Baby The Temptations
2. Rescue Me Fantella Bass
3. Good Times Gene Chandler
4. Track of My Tears The Miracles
5. Love Martha and The Vandellas
6. First, I Look At the Purse The Contours
7. Boo-ga-loo
8. Respect Otis Redding
9. Lover's Concerto The Toys
10. Stop! Look What You're Doing To Me Carla Thomas