Professor Emeritus Simmons succumbs

Carl Henry Simmons, professor emeritus, died July 4 in Roanoke-Chowan Hospital in Ahoskie, N.C. He taught mathematics at Chowan from 1963 until 1988 and also worked with the athletic department. He was a former teacher at Greenbrier Military Academy in Lewisburg, West Virginia. Simmons graduated from Union University, received the master's degree from West Virginia University and completed graduate work at East Carolina University, Rutgers University, and Oklahoma State University. Since retiring from Chowan, he had resided in Murfreesboro where he was a member of the Murfreesboro Baptist Church and the Exchange Club. He also served in the Naval Reserve. Donations to the Book of Memory in the name of Carl H. Simmons may be sent to the Office of Development, Chowan College, P.O. Box 1848, Murfreesboro, N.C. 27855.

Notes from Development

"The North Carolina and Southern Baptist Foundations"

The Development Office of Chowan College is pleased to be associated with the North Carolina Baptist Foundation and the Southern Baptist Foundation of Nashville, Tennessee. The college also works with other state foundations, but in the main works with the one located in Cary, North Carolina and Nashville, Tennessee.

These foundations are supported by the Cooperative Program and were established to provide investment-management and estate planning services for individual Southern Baptists and for Southern Baptist agencies and institutions.

- Some of the services offered:
- Assist individuals with drafting or rewriting their wills.
 - Assist individuals with life income trusts through means of unitrusts, charitable gift annuities, and pooled income funds.
 - Serve as executor of an estate.

- Invest and manage money for individuals, agencies or institutions.
- Assist individuals with estate plans.
- Assist individuals with making gifts to a North Carolina Baptist or Southern Baptist cause.
- Serve as a trustee for trusts benefiting a North Carolina Baptist or Southern Baptist cause.

Both of these foundations charge a very modest fee for their services, compared with those of other financial institutions that provide similar services.

Chowan College's Development Office works in cooperation with both of these foundations and encourages individuals to use their services. If you do not know how to contact your state Baptist Foundation, call the Baptist Headquarters in your state or the Chowan College Development Office (919/398-4101).

Phonathon

The annual Chowan Phonathon will be held this fall. Students and alumni volunteers will be calling alumni, parents and friends asking for gifts and pledges to the Annual Fund. Pledges made this fall are payable until May 31, 1992. This is the one time during the year that alumni and parents will be telephoned to contribute to the Alumni Loyalty Fund and Parents' Fund.

"Due to alumni demand last year, we changed the phonathon from the spring to the fall of the year. Last year's fall phonathon brought in a record amount of contributions and support for the college," states E. Vincent Tilson, vice president for development. "We are confident this fall's phonathon will be a success and hope many alumni and friends will respond positively when they are called."
