FACULTY FOCUS

Andrea Emmot Eason, an associate professor in the Department of Business, received her doctor of education degree in vocational and technical education at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The degree was conferred during commencement exercises in May at Blacksburg, VA.

Dr. Eason's dissertation was entitled "The Formative Evaluation and Revision of an Instructional Management System for Business Computer Competencies."

The dissertation resulted in the publication of a computer program utilizing relational database architecture.

The software program is entitled LessonBank and is being distributed by the Virginia Department of Education to all business education teachers in the state to supplement the development of business education courses.

The program was designed and developed jointly by Dr. Eason and George L. Hazelton, associate professor of science.

Dr. Eason, who joined the Chowan faculty in 1969, currently teaches computer information system courses and holds the position of director of academic computing.

She is the daughter of Walter and Andrea Emmot of Independence, Kansas. She resides in Sunbury with her husband, Mack, who is associated with an insurance agency. The couple has three daughters, Lisa, Frances and Suzanne.

Dr. Kenneth Craig, assistant professor of religion, has authored an article, "Rhetorical Aspects of Questions Answered in Silence in I Samuel 14:37 and 28:6," which has been accepted for publication in Catholic Biblical Quarterly. His review of Brueggemann's Power, Providence, and Personality appeared in Volume 554 of the same publication.

Susan Fecho and Beth Vick, members of the art faculty, had work on display in the 14th Annual Juried Fine Arts Exhibition, sponsored by the Greensboro Art Council. They won a second place and an honorable mention.

Dr. Hargus Taylor, chairperson of the department of religion, has been elected president of the Southern Baptist Historical Society for 1993-94.

Darrell Nicholson, registrar, had a poem, "Father", in the 1993 edition of Campbell University's The Lyricist. He was also a judge for the poetry section.

Ms. Janet Collins, head coach of the women's volleyball team and assistant professor of health and physical education, was recently honored by NJCAA Region 10 for her many contributions to athletics over the years.

Street named to honor Jack Hassell

In recognition of his thirty-three years of outstanding service, Jack A. Hassell was honored on April 29, when the street at the south entrance to the campus was officially named Hassell Drive. Dr. Jerry F. Jackson, President, presided at the ceremony, which was held at the Union Street location.

Hassell, Director of Physical Plant, joined the Chowan staff on August 1, 1960, as superintendent of buildings and grounds. The street designation, authorized by the Board of Trustees in December, 1992, was in tribute to Hassell's "deligent and meritorious service to the college."

R. Clayton Lewis, Director of Corporate and Foundation Relations, the keynote speaker, cited Hassell as a "highly respected member of the college community" and said that on many occasions, he had "gone the second mile to see that the needs of faculty, staff, and especially students, were met without excessive delay."

All of the major buildings on campus, with the exception of Green Hall, Lakeside Student Center, McDowell Columns and Mixon Hall, have been constructed during Hassell's tenure of service, as well as major additions or renovations to many other college structures.

Lewis also noted that Hassell's service extends beyond the college community. He related that "he serves the citizens of Murfreesboro through membership in the Exchange Club, on the Town Council and on the Board of Deacons of Murfreesboro Baptist Church," and said that Hassell's service is "viewed as a positive example to every member of the college faculty and staff."

Bynum R. Brown, of Murfreesboro and a member of the Board of Trustees, presented an engraved plaque to Hassell in behalf of the board and in appreciation for the outstanding work he has rendered.

Major William B. Hill spoke on behalf of the Town of Murfreesboro and expressed appreciation to Hassell for his involvement in the life and progress of the town. Charles L. Revell, III, chairman of the Board of Deacons, spoke on behalf of the Murfreesboro Baptist Church.
