Women's Teams Have Winning Seasons 74-75

Winning seasons in volleyball and basketball, forged mostly against senior college clubs, were recorded by the Chowan College women's varsity teams.

In volleyball, Chowan's women's team captured its first winning season ever in the fall of 1974. To do it, the lady Braves had to defeat two senior college teams, Meredith and St. Augustine, on the final day of their 11-game schedule. The wins pushed Chowan's record to six wins against five defeats.

The record was achieved in the face of competition against five senior colleges and only one two-year school, Louisburg. The lady Braves scored five wins against senior colleges defeating North Carolina Wesleyan twice, 15-5, 15-6, and 15-7, 18-16; and Atlantic Christian, Meredith and St. Augustine once each. Chowan split with Louisburg.

Chowan's women's basketball team ended with an 8-6 record, including seven wins over senior college clubs. Five of the eight members return. They are Annette Guyton of Oxford, Terry Jettette of Buxton, Cindy Ward of Tyner, Aleph Woodard of Enfield, and Lisa Dabney of Staunton, Va. Miss Woodard was the team's leading scorer and rebounder with 14.6 and 9.6 averages. Miss Guyton was runnerup with 13.9 and 9 scoring and rebounding averages.

Both teams are coached by Mrs. Janet Collins of the athletic department. She also directs the women's intramural program which includes competition in softball, volleyball and football in the fall, and swim meet, gymnastics meet, basketball (team sport and individual shooting), tennis and ping pong in the spring.

Audience Participation Drama Given In April

A drama in which members of the audience participate as the jury. The Night of January 16th, was presented by the Chowan College division of drama in Daniel Hall in April.

The play also offered three Chowan faculty members in important roles. Two, Professor Undine Barnhill as the judge, and Mrs. Betty Batchelor as Magda Swenson, a Swedish housekeeper, are members of the English department. Mrs. Esther Whitaker, professor of religion, portrayed Jane Chandler, a handwriting specialist.

Mrs. Batchelor's son, Paul, a junior at Murfreesboro High School, played the old night watchman, Hutchins.

All other parts were by the Chowan players, most with experience on the Chowan stage. They include: lawyers Andy Grimes of Coats as Mr. Flint and Elaine Heather-shaw of Winston-Salem as Ms. Stevens; Vicki Jones of Suffolk, Va. as Karen Andre, the girl on trial; James Luxford of Chesapeake as Elmer Sweeney, the inspector of police; and Pete Cambridge of Hockessin, Del. as "Guts" Regan, who bursts into the courtroom to solve the mystery of the murder.

Others appearing in the play were Betsy Guedri of Richmond, Va. as Nancy Lee Faulkner, the murdered man's wife; George Payne of Springfield, Va. as John Whitfield, the wife's father; Mark Romulus of Norfolk, Va. as Siegard Finequist; Mark Reaves of Winston-Salem as Dr. Kirkland; and Lycurtis Satterwhite of Oxford as Homer Van Fleet.

The play's assistant director, Lini Knight of Chapel Hill, played the bailiff.

Chowan Touring Choir Had 8 Spring Concerts

The Chowan College Touring Choir spent the spring break from March 15-23 presenting concerts in eight churches in South and North Carolina, according to the director, Dr. James Chamblee.

The choir traveled Saturday, March 15 to Hartsville, S. C. where it made its first appearance Sunday morning at Wesley United Methodist Church. The pastor, the Rev. Eugene Holmes, is the father of two Chowan students, David and Marc. That evening, the choir presented a concert at Columbia's Woodfield Park Baptist Church, where a former Chowan student, Edgar Pittman, is chairman of the deacons.

The choir presented a concert in Rock Hill Monday before moving into North Carolina for appearances Tuesday in Shelby and Wednesday in Belmont. Friday, the choir presented concerts in Winston-Salem at Hayes Home of the Baptist Homes for the Aging, Inc. and Glenn View Baptist Church.

Chowan's choir was featured Sunday at Mt. Olive's First Baptist Church at 11 a.m. and Weldon Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m.

Following its sacred music concert, the choir presented an informal program to the youth at a number of the churches.
